Minister Johnson at Liverpool—Welcome Addresses from the Corporation and Chamber of Commerce—Courtesies Extended—Speeches by Mr. Johnson, Lord Stanley and Mr. Gladstone.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 23.—Minister Johnson was welcomed at the Town Hall yesterday by Mayor Whitely, who presented him with an address from the Corporation. Mr. Johnson replied briefly to the effect that peace between the two countries was not likely to be disturbed, and that the negotiations going on give an assurance that nothing in the past or present will affect the peaceful relations of the two governments. An address of the Chamber of Commerce was also read and briefly responded to by Mr. Johnson. He declined to discuss the free trade question, as it was a legislative rather than a diplomatic question. After a lunch, Mr. Johnson visited the news room and was received enthusiastically. Subsequently he visited the docks and river and partook of a banquet at the Rooms of the Law Association. Stewart P. Brown occupied the chair. Among the guests were Lord Stanly, Right Hon. Wm. E. Gladstone, the Bishop of Chester, and many local celebrities, commercial and parliamentary. A number of gentlemen sat down at the table, among whom were several representatives of the United States press. The usual toasts to the Queen of England, to the President of the United States, the Royal Family, Clergy of all denominations, and the Army and Navy, were proposed and responded to. The Chairman after a few words gave the health of Reverdy Johnson.

Mr. Johnson returned thanks for himself and country. He said he had been received everywhere with enthusiasm, but had been warned he would not be, so he was more than disappointed. He knew that the wisdom and patriotism of the people of Liverpool would cause them to forget the late past and look with confidence to the future. He was told that persons would attend whom he ought not to meet, who had aided the South; his reply was that such a meeting was most gratifying to him because it was an assurance to the people of America, to the government, and to himself, that the former differences had been forgotten, and now the heart of Liverpool, like that of all England, has but one warm feeling to the United States. When I remembered the war through which our Government passed unharmed, so far as its amity is concerned, I was satisfied that you would see that the Union still stands on a foundation never to be shaken. However some of you may have differed as to the result of the war, I thought I knew, and now I realize here, and find friends as sincere as anywhere in the realm. Our fathers made a nation. We have shown our will and ability to maintain it as long as Providence will suffer human society to endure. Mr. Johnson then complimented the American Chamber of Commerce on its history and usefulness, and dilated on the expansion of Liverpool the commerce of America aids, and is glad to aid the prosperity of the English laboring men. They are partly fed by the United States, and of their industry America shares the fruits. Because of this close connection nothing but absolute insanity on the part of either nation can involve us in a conflict. This I say for the future, not for the present, for nothing is further from my thoughts than I should be insane, or that the government that is turning to Lord Stanley, or that which may be turning to Mr. Gladstone, shall be so, which ever party may prevail. Peace will be in no peril as long as Lord Stanley represents the foreign relations of England, and I, or any one of my sentiments, those of America here, peace is beyond the possibility of a doubt. We discarded the mysteries of diplomacy, frankly said what we wanted, asked nothing not right to be asked, and I may say so far as we have gone that all has gone merrily, and we have every reason to think that all will go so to the end. What has been done or left to be done, I leave you to guess. In the language of Lord Coke, "let this little taste suffice." I have spoken at Sheffield and elsewhere of special industry. Here commerce is the theme. How comprehensive the term? It holds in its grasp the world; finds man wherever he is, ministers to his wants, and enables him to minister to the wants of his fellow; brings all the productions of the world into the market; explores and brings to light the treasures of the earth and disseminates them through the universe for the happiness of the race. It does more. You may be, you should be, the pioneers of morality and religion. You take the Missionary Bible wherever man is, and secure wide and wider spread Christian civilization. And you have done more. You have bridged the Atlantic—once an ocean, dangerous to pass, separated us; now there is a bridge of boats upon it, over which you go in a few days with perfect safety from shore to shore. This is a result of joint enterprise. But even this is not all by a joint enterprise. You have aided us to grasp the hand of friendship beneath the sea, and heart beats in unison to heart, though above the waves are mountains high, threatening destruction to all within their reach. And we are indebted for this marvel of the age to your wealth, enterprise and, still more, your engineers and scientific men, amongst whom, as well as I remember, are worthy of special mention—Charles Bright, Whitehouse, Farraday and Morse, aided by the never-failing energy and never-despairing confidence of our countryman, Cyrus W. Field, who accomplished it. How are we to dispute. How could we have the heart to stop the career, to prevent the result of the joint efforts and the joint skill which promise so much advantage and shower so many blessings on the whole habitable globe. We expect to remain under the government we now enjoy. You expect to remain under that which you enjoy. They differ but in form. The foundations of each are in those principles which are essential to the preservation of liberty. The great rights guaranteed by magna charta, the personal security afforded by the great writ of habeas corpus, all protected by the right of trial by jury, satisfy us that through all time, if we are true to ourselves, our respective governments will last. They may for a time be interrupted in their operation. There may be some error in some portion of the structures of each, but that we will correct. We will be able to remove the nuisance without defaming the shrine. To the end—I speak it with all due confidence with which men can speak—to the end we will remain in unity. The unity of my Government is now established; the unity of yours has never been threatened, and God grant it never may be. I conclude, therefore, in the words of an American poet—

"While the manners and the arts
That mould the nations' soul,
Still cling around our hearts,
Between let ocean roll,
Our lofty communion
Breaking wit the sun,
Yet from either beach
A voice of blood shall reach
More audible than speech—
We are one."

Mr. Johnson was heard throughout with frequent and hearty applause, and was vehemently cheered at the close.

Lord Stanley responded to a toast to Her Majesty's Ministers. His remarks were peaceful and in good taste. He referred at length to European affairs, deprecating the causes which led to war and which entail so many burdens on the people in the way of taxation. He could not say that the future was without cause of uneasiness and anxiety, but all statesmen view with aversion the prospect of war. In reference to America he paid a neat compliment to Minister Johnson, and re-expressed the language of that gentleman as to the relations of the two countries. No difficulty can grow out of the difficulties of the late war, a solution of the questions being close at hand.

Mr. Gladstone followed and referred in fitting terms to the amicable relations existing between England and America.

After several other speeches were made, Mr. Johnson, before proposing the health of the Chairman, said he would now say to the gentlemen of the Chamber of Commerce what he had forgotten to say before, namely, that one of the causes which enabled England to be successful was the strict preservation of her credit. He was struck when at Sheffield with the wisdom and good sense motto the cutler's association had adopted: "To ensure success preserve your credit." What would England or the United States have been if they had not strictly observed it? What would they now be if they should disregard it? He forebore to look upon the dark picture which would then be presented. He did not desire to look on it, and could not with propriety, because he was satisfied it was equally impossible for England or America to disregard her credit; but policy, justice and necessity requires, if there be such a doubt, the benefit of the doubt should be given to the creditors. (Cheers.) He concluded with complimentary allusions to the Chairman, whose health he proposed. At eleven o'clock the party dispersed, after repeated cheers and expressions of satisfaction.

Mr. Laird was among the guests.

NEW YORK, October 23, 1868.

SENTENCE OF MURDERERS.

Two murderers, named Nicholson and Johnson, were sentenced to-day, the former to the State prison for life, and the latter to the penitentiary for one year.

MONEY PANIC.

The pinch in the money market is greater than ever. Thus far the operations of the speculative clique have been very successful, and it is believed the banks have been forced into aiding the scheme. It is predicted that the squeeze will be broken to-morrow. There is a rumor that in order to ease the money market the banks have consented to loan fifteen per cent. of their reserve funds. The export of specie this week will be very light.

The Herald states that several stock brokers have succeeded in locking up in two or three banks some thirteen million dollars, and that a panic in Wall street to-day is imminent unless other banks come to the assistance of the distressed. There is danger of a serious financial crisis.

NATURALIZATION FRAUDS.

It is reported that ten thousand fraudulent naturalization papers have been issued during the past month. Judge McCann and Barnard will both be prosecuted for issuing them.

THE PLAINS.

Indian Fighting on the Plains—Movement of Troops, &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, October 23.—A Hays City, Kansas, dispatch says that Col. Carpenter and Capt. Graham, of the Tenth cavalry, had an exciting brush with the Cheyennes and Arrapahoes yesterday, at Buffalo, about sixty miles west of there. They killed nine Indians and wounded thirty. Our loss was three wounded. The soldiers fought desperately.

A large band of Indians, supposed to be those who fought Col. Forsythe, are now engaged in killing buffaloes two days' march from Buffalo, their squaws and children accompanying them. They are surrounded by the Fifth cavalry and a portion of the Twentieth.

Col. Keag, Inspector General of the District, went out this morning. All the troops are on the move. It is thought an attack will be made on Fort Dodge in a few days.

A company of scouts left here this morning, under command of Lieut Pepoon, for the purpose of joining Gen. Carr. Col. Moore, of Gen. Sheridan's staff, accompanied the expedition.

PHILADELPHIA.

Election Frauds—Banquet of Colored Masons—Reported Withdrawal of Blair.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, October 23.—About thirty cases of fraud at the recent election in this city have been prepared for Court, and upon those the proposed contests will rest. All are against the Democrats.

The colored Masons had a grand banquet here last night, given in honor of the presence of the National Grand Master, R. H. Gleares, of Philadelphia, and other officers of the National Grand Lodge of the United States, recently in session at Wilmington.

It is reported here that Frank Blair has concluded to withdraw from the canvass.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

All the Ports of Colombia Closed—An American Newspaper Taken Possession of by an Armed Force.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, October 23.—A Panama letter states that all the ports of that State have been declared closed. The Government could not raise twelve thousand dollars to hire a steamer to take troops to Chirriqui, to put down the rebellion there.

An armed force took possession of the American newspaper, the Chronicle, and were supposed to be looking for the Spanish editor.

The San Francisco Earthquake.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, October 23.—No further earthquake demonstrations since 2.15, except a very slight shock at 7 30. No additional damage has yet been ascertained. The excitement among the people has abated, and business is proceeding as usual. The weather is very thick yet, and a slight rain is falling.

ANDY AND HORATIO.

Swing Around the Circle—Andy Telegraphs Horatio.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BUFFALO, October 23.—The following dispatch from President Johnson was received by Governor Seymour here this morning:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 22, '68.

To Horatio Seymour—I see it announced in the papers of this morning that you will enter the Presidential canvass in person. I trust this may be so, as the present position of public affairs justifies and demands it. It is hoped and believed by your friends that all the enemies of constitutional government, whether secret or avowed, will not be spared, and that their arbitrary and unjust usurpations, together with their wasteful, profligate and corrupt uses of the people's treasure, will be signally exposed and rebuked. The mass of the people should be aroused and warned against the encroachments of the despotic power now ready to enter the very gates of the Citadel of liberty. I trust you may speak with an inspired tongue, and your voice may penetrate every just and patriotic heart throughout the land. Let the living principles of a violated Constitution be proclaimed and restored, that peace, prosperity and fraternal feeling may return to our divided and oppressed nation.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

CLEVELAND, October 23.—Governor Seymour and party arrived from Buffalo at 7 P. M. He was received at all the places where the train stopped by considerable assemblages, and spoke at Dunkirk, Westfield, Erie, Ashtabula and Painesville.

RELIGIOUS.

The Episcopal Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, October 23.—The Episcopal Convention this morning voted to adjourn sine die on Tuesday evening next.

Rev. Dr. Haight, from the Committee on Canons, reported it inexpedient to make the amendments recommended by the House of Bishops, to strike out the clause in canon eleven, which requires of the Bishops to report their action on any resolution of the House of Deputies within three days, and a failure to do so to be regarded as acquiescence. The Committee also non-concurred in an amendment to canon thirteen, section sixteen, section three, permitting the House of Bishops to accept the resignation of a bishop by letter, without calling a general meeting. The reports were accepted.

Dr. Shattuck introduced a series of resolutions setting forth that it was a solemn and urgent duty for lay members to make systematic and constant efforts for the better support of the clergy and their families, recommending the establishment of incorporated societies of widows and orphans of clergymen, and that collections be made at Advent, Christmas or Epiphany; one-half to be appropriated for the better maintenance of the clergy, and the other half to be given to the Board of Domestic Missions. Adopted.

The special order of the day, the discussion of Mr. Ruggles' resolutions on the provincial system, was, after a debate, postponed, and the Convention took up the proposed Canon on Federal Councils. The Committee on Canons reported the Canon with an addition of two provisos: 1. That no determined action shall be had until the powers proposed to be conferred on these Councils shall have been approved by the General Convention, and that nothing in the Convention shall be construed to prevent the Federal Councils in the interval between this and the next Convention from securing all the necessary measures of legislation for the civil authorities.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 23.—The Presbyterian Synod of New York and New Jersey, (new school) met to-day and adopted resolutions in favor of the speedy re-union of the two branches of the Church. Adjourned. The Old School Synod adjourned yesterday.

PACIFIC COAST.

The Subsidence of the Southeastern Shore of Hawaii Confirmed—Damage Done at Australia by the Tidal Wave.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, October 23.—Letters from the Sandwich Islands confirm the reported subsidence of the Southeastern shore of the island of Hawaii. The Rev. Mr. Coan states that the subsidence is plainly shown by trees which were once on dry land, being now in the sea, and rocky inlets once five feet out of water, being now submerged.

An Australian letter states that the tidal wave there caused considerable damage to shipping and slight shocks of an earthquake were felt. The solar eclipse was visible on the 18th of August, and meteors and electrical phenomena were observed all through the month. A meteor fell over the stern of a ship at Crowdy Head on the night of the 19th, and burst, killing the steersman.

Volunteer Companies Forming in Cuba.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, October 23.—Volunteer companies are forming in all parts of Cuba and offering their services to the Captain General. Order now prevails, even in Puerto Principe for the first time. Heavy rains are prevailing in the interior, which prevent the troops from pursuing the insurrectionists as swiftly as desired. Information has been received in this city from Holguin announcing that the insurrectionists are committing depredations in that neighborhood.

A document purporting to be signed by a Revolutionary Committee made its appearance this morning, inciting the people to rise against the government. The existence of such a Committee is unknown. Everybody is in favor of peace, and consequently the document is unheeded.

Sinking of the Propeller Northampton.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., October 23.—The propeller Northampton, from New York for this port, when entering this harbor this morning, was struck amidships by the steamer Continental and cut almost in twain. She sank in ten minutes. The passengers were saved by the Continental, but the freight and baggage, of which there was a large quantity, were lost, Engineer Beach, of the Northampton, was seriously injured. The Northampton was a new boat.

Passengers who arrived here to-day on the steamer Continental state that several passengers on the Northampton were badly scalded by the steam which escaped from a broken steam pipe, besides the engineer, Beach, who will probably die.

The International Boat Race.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 23.—The St. John and Ward crews left this city this afternoon for their homes. The Wards sold their boat to Chas. A. Pevereliy, this morning, for $150, as is reported, to raise money to pay their expenses home.

DETROIT.

GREAT REPUBLICAN MASS MEETING.

Brilliant Speech by Hon. Schuyler Colfax.

HORATIO SEYMOUR ANSWERED.

The Republican Party Vindicated.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

DETROIT, MICH., October 23.—The great Republican mass meeting to-day was a highly successful affair. Special trains on several of the railroads brought large crowds from the interior of the State. At two o'clock as many people as could obtain entrance gathered in the passenger depot of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad, where speeches were delivered by Hon. Schuyler Colfax, Hon. B. F. Wade and Hon. Sam. Galloway.

On being introduced to the immense audience, Mr Colfax, who was heartily received, spoke just an hour. The following are his words in reference to Mr. Seymour:

I have been reading this morning a speech made by a distinguished gentleman, a citizen of New York, a candidate for the office of President of the United States, which has diverted my thoughts from that line of remarks which I intended to follow to-day. That gentleman, and I allude to Gov. Seymour, has recently commenced a canvass of the United States as far as time will permit, until the Presidential election, believing that the exigencies of his party demand it, as I think they did, (Laughter) and I think that it will be love's labor lost, (renewed laughter,) and I propose to devote my remarks to-day before this large assembly to a brief review, hurried as it must be, in time for others to speak after me, of some of the views laid down by this distinguished citizen. I listened to the speeches that the telegraph announced had been made by him with no common degree of interest, but when I read these speeches, I must acknowledge the regret with which I was pained. I found them, through and through, not a vindication of his old political platform, not a justification of the principles emblazoned upon their banner with which they invited us to the issue, but an arraignment and denunciation of the party to which he stands opposed, and which, thank God, blocks up the way to the Presidential chair. (Great applause.) I will read a sentence, which is the gist of his Rochester speech:

"What we hope and aim to do is to check this usurpation and unwise legislation. The men in power have neither established a successful system of reconstruction, nor have they done anything to lighten the burdens which oppress the people of the north."

He is now traveling throughout our various States for the purpose of arraigning, unjust and untruly, as I am compelled to say, that noble party of whose membership I, with you, am justly proud. What they hope and aim to do, is to check usurpation and unwise legislation. In the olden times, when they went forth to battle, warriors always went with the spear and with the shield, the shield for defence and the spear for attack. I shall not imitate the example of Governor Seymour, and I come here only with the shield to defend the party whose beautiful record is written on the brightest pages of our country's history, which you cannot obliterate nor ignore, without tearing from your country's annals the most brilliant pages that illuminate its history. (Great cheers.) And what does he call this record? He calls it a record of usurpation and unwise legislation. Let me pass but to review before you, for there is nothing more triumphant, there is nothing more soul-stirring, there is nothing more inspiring, to every lover of his country, than the record we have written down on the pages of our country's history.

Look back at the very birth of the Republican party, when it sprang into existence, almost originating, as you know, in the State of Michigan, but finding its hundreds of thousands all over the land, standing with it heart to heart and shoulder to shoulder. (Applause.) What is its first usurpation? It was when border ruffians sought to invade the plains of Kansas, sought to punish devotion to liberty there by outrage, by murder, by midnight assassination, by stealing ballot-boxes and stuffing them to make them speak entirely the voice of that people in the struggle between liberty and slavery—when the army of the United States was used there under the the orders of the administration then in power to suppress free speech, to pervert the people from manifesting and declaring their sentiments, then this young, vigorous Republican party, born out of the exigencies of the hour, devoted itself to that whole principle of Liberty and Justice which has illuminated its banners ever since, dared to throw down the gauntlet of defiance at the feet of the administration then in power, at its army, at its devotees, at its supporters, at its apologists; dared to make the cause of Kansas our own, and your speakers, and those in the adjoining States and elsewhere, traveled through the country like Peter the Hermit, when he preached the crusades against the Saracens, arousing the consciousness of the nation, awakening the people to the sense of their danger and their duty, struck down that power, gave to Kansas free speech, gave to her liberty, and by that usurpation, our first usurpation, she entered into the Union at last arrayed in her white robes of freedom, thank God. [Great applause.] That is our first usurpation. What is the second usurpation for which we are arraigned by Governor Seymour? It was when the Supreme Court, unfaithful to its duty, dared in its high place pronounce and promulgate that infamous decision, known as the Dred Scott decision, by which they sought to enthrone in this country slavery as a power above all and beyond the Constitution, before which every knee should bow and every tongue confess; dared furthermore to enunciate that principle which if the people had ratified, would have dishonored us before God and the civilized world, that there were those so poor in our land that they had no rights that a white man was bound to respect; and this young Republican party knowing as they did of the reverence which always cluster around her judicial decisions; knowing the power they dared to encounter, they took issue with that before the American people, dared to denounce it, dared to stigmatize it and what is more, dared to crush it under their feet, until to-day there is not a man in this land, I care not to what party he belongs, so poor as to do reverence to that infamous decision. That was our second usurpation. (Cheers.) And there were those men that clustered around that decision and defended it, there were those men who maintained that decision against us and sought to make it the controlling power of the American people; sought to make it the sentiment of this great nation; sought to make it so immutable that every jurist and every legislator should be compelled to surrender his allegiance to it. I thank Providence that there was a party who dared to meet that decision, dared to arouse the consciousness of the people against it, dared to defy it, dared to denounce it, dared to spit upon it, saving our country from the disgrace and dishonor that would have attended us if we had yielded to it and allowed it to become the paramount law of this land. That was our second usurpation, for which we are denounced. We are proud of it—we glory in it, and the hearts of the loyal people thank us for doing it. (Tremendous cheering.) Then there was another usurpation. It was when war burst upon our land—it was when wicked men who added perjury to the crime of treason (and, I thank God there was not a Republican amongst them, not one,) (Applause) trampled the stars and stripes under their feet when they dared to attempt to make that flag the winding sheet of the world's best hope; when they dared to guide their traitorous hands to the nation's heart, that they might plunge the dagger into it and destroy it forever; and when all over this land the faithful people rallied by their President and rallied by their country, took up the sword to save the land that the sword of Treason had doomed to destruction—then every act committed by the administration, every policy by which they sought to strike down that main power of treason was denounced from one end of this country to the other as usurpation. And when the war was over; when the work of reconstruction was to be accomplished; when it was to be determined whether these States should pass back again into the hands and under the power of the very men who had used the power and authority of these States against us all through the rebellion to consolidate their confederacy, to hurl their armies against the armies of the Union—when we, and we alone of all the parties of the land, stood in the gap and said loyalty shall govern what loyalty preserved, again we heard the cry usurpation, usurpation. I glory in this usurpation. (Applause.)

I will read again from Seymour's speech: "I trust that when this election shall have terminated it shall be the judgment of the United States that the intention of the framers of our Constitution shall be carried out, and that the power shall, in such a degree, be divided between the great political organizations as that they can hold each other in check, and that it shall neither be in the power of the Republican or of the Democratic party to plunge our country into the evils of civil war, even if they could find it in their hearts to do a thing so unwise, so wicked and so unpatriotic." He wants a division of party in this country, so as to restrain the Republican party and the Democratic party from plunging our country into the evils of civil war. It is not needed, Governor Seymour. (Applause.) No man in the Republican party ever plunged the country into the horrors of anarchy and carnage and desolation of civil war. No Republican ever fired upon that flag. No Republican ever drew his rifle with deadly intent at the heart of that flag. Not one—not one. (Cheers.) I told you I came only with a shield to vindicate my party, but I thank God that of all the men who have ever voted the Republican ticket, that ever stood upon our platform, that ever breathed our principles, not one solitary one of them ever lifted his hands against that flag. And you are going to elect a Democratic President, Governor Seymour says, to keep those rebels from involving the country in manslaughter. I tell you what the people are going to do. They are going to elect Grant as President, to prevent those men from ever daring to lift their hands against the Government again. (Great applause.) I know well you cannot have indemnity for the past. You cannot go down to those hundred battle fields and restore our dead soldiers to life. You cannot go to the widow who has lost her husband, dearer to her than all else, shot down by a rebel bullet and clothe him with life again—to life and to the joy of her declining years. You cannot restore to those among our orphans, made so by rebel bullets, the fathers that trained them in the paths of usefulness and virtue, but I tell you one thing you can do, you can have security for the future, and the people intend to have that by electing the destroyer of the rebellion as their President.

I will tell you of another usurpation. There was a Convention which met at Chicago four years ago, and of that Convention this distinguished citizen of the United States, Governor Seymour, was President. It was in the very midst of this war, in the very crisis of the nation's agony, when your soldiers were dying in the trenches, dying in the camp, dying of disease on their march, decimated by rebel bullets, dying with their young hearts, the blood flowing from their veins, murdered by traitors, for their devotion to the flag. In the very midst of that, when the fate of the nation's life and death hung trembling in the balance, when it would be decided in a short twelve months whether we would have the country live or whether the country was to be destroyed, that Convention, with Governor Seymour in the chair, proclaimed aloud that the war was a failure, and hung out the white flag of surrender and demanded a cessation of hostilities, and our usurpation then was that we dared to strike down that platform and all who stood on it and say on spite of that the country shall live, the war is not a failure, the rebellion shall be quelled, we accept no terms but unconditional surrender. [Great applause.] That was one usurpation, and the people are going to be guilty against such another one at this coming November. [Cheers.]

I said to you a few moments ago that there was not a single man in all our hosts who ever raised his hand or raised his rifle against that flag, but there were three hundred thousand of the bravest and the best who are to-day sleeping in patriot graves, not one of them murdered by a Republican, not one of them shot down by a Republican, not one of them whose young life was given for his country by the deadly rifle of a Republican. How were they killed? They were killed by the very men who are going to vote for this man as President of the United States. Why were they killed? They were killed because upon the battle field men who forgot their allegiances to their country dared to raise the rifle and draw the bead upon it that the bullet might speed to their hearts, and thereby the country might be weakened.

Is there a man here who fought under the banner of the Union who is going to vote that ticket? If there is, let me say a word to him in kindness and friendship. When you go to the ballot-box and drop in that ballot, by which you and the other millions of our country rule this land and control its destinies, you are going to drop it in side by side, if not in actual proximity, yet in spirit, in principle and in soul, with the men who on the battle-field sought to kill you for your adhesion to the flag. (Sensation.) If three hundred thousand more could have been murdered by the rebels, this country might have been destroyed. It is not the fault of the man who drops his ballot in with you; it is not the fault of Wade Hampton; it is not the fault of Forrest and other Generals, Wise and others, who are going to vote with you; it is not their fault that you are living to-day. They drew the lead upon you; they aimed at your heart, because you were faithful to the allegiance which they themselves repudiated. God's providence turned aside that bullet; but if the men with whom you are going to vote could have led the way, you would have been bleeding in your grave. (Sensation.)

Now, go and vote with them if you want to. I do not speak of this in language of revenge. Far from it my friends. I have not one particle of revenge in my disposition. I am willing to forgive to the uttermost. God teaches us to forgive, but he forgives no one without repentance. (Applause.) There is no creed in all christendom, in all the various denominations that exist in our land, that even intimate the possibility of God forgiving us our crimes, except upon the condition of repentance. Is there sorrow for this great crime in the hearts of these men? Penance for the blood they have shed? Contrition for their nefarious conspiracy against this country? The only regret they have is that their cause was lost instead of triumphant. When they repent I shall forgive them, if their sins are red and their hands dyed with the blood of my countrymen; but I tell you wherever I may be in public or in private life, in the office which I am about to fill, as I believe, for the next four years, (applause,) or wherever I may be placed by my fellow-citizens, there is one thing I cannot do, one thing I will not do, one thing before God I dare not do, and that is to put the dagger of power back again into the hands of unrepentant rebels and traitors; with which they can stab once more, as they stabbed for my nation's life. (Applause.)

WEST VIRGINIA ELECTION.

The Republican Ticket Elected.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WHEELING, WEST VA., October 23.—Complete returns from Hancock and Ohio counties show Republican gains over the vote of 1866. The Democratic majority in Ohio county is reducted to one hundred and twenty. Brooke county is very close, with a small Democratic majority and gain. Wood, Harrison, Jefferson, Mineral and Marion counties show large Democratic gains. Marshall county is claimed by the Republicans by seven hundred majority, a Republican gain. Partial returns from Mason county show small Republican gains. The Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee claim the State as sure by a reduced majority, and the election of Gen. Duval to Congress in the First district as beyond doubt.

WASHINGTON, PA.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 20.

Last evening the Synod adjourned. The entire session was harmonious and delightful. The business transactions, in addition to the ordinary items, embraced a paper on the subject of union with the New School Church. The purport of the paper was an expression on the part of the Synod of an earnest desire to have the union consummated as soon as possible, and a conviction that the whole Church cordially shares in said desire. The vote on the adoption of this paper was almost unanimous. An old fogy or two were in the negative. It takes some people a long time to get their eyes open. Not unfrequently the wheels of progress have to run over them and break their necks. The loss is little to be regretted.

In transacting its business the Synod was prompt, and always in a good humor. The Moderator had too little self-confidence, and allowed himself too often to become confused. Further experience would remedy all this and soon make him as a presiding officer what he is as a christian gentleman—excellent.

The temporary clerk, Rev. Chalfant, of Martinsville, Ohio, and the stated clerk, Rev. Milligan, of Waynesburg, Ohio, did their part admirably.

The statistical reports were encouraging, showing that the Church throughout the Synod is not asleep.

A good religious spirit pervaded the entire proceedings. A portion of each session was devoted to religious services. Earnest prayers were offered and stirring exhortations delivered. The preaching seemed to have a single aim to do good. Most of the pulpits in town were filled on Sabbath by members of the Synod. The Synodical communion, on Sabbath afternoon, was a precious time. The number of communicants was large, not a few of other churches participating.

The Synod meets next year in New Lisbon, Ohio.

Our citizens are greatly gratified that it met here this year. Its return will be hailed with much pleasure.

The initial steps have been taken to have this winter, as we had last, a course of lectures. The committee having the matter in hand will no doubt consummate it.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

Although we have given pretty full details by telegraph, of each day's session of the General (Episcopal) Convention, now in session at New York, we group together some matters upon which action has occurred, and being of great importance to the interests of that Church. Considerable discussion has taken place upon the question of changing the name "General Convention" to "National Council." While the matter is postponed, it will likely be brought forward again, when the provincial system comes up for discussion. It is a significant fact, that the House of Bishops voted to change the name "Convention" to "Synod." This, however, may be reconsidered. Great diversity of opinion exists among the Delegates upon the question of multiplying the Dioceses, and the support of the Episcopate in the new Sees thus erected, without regard to their ecclesiastical sympathies. The report on Canon XII, which covers the ground of the Tyng case, evidently favors a strict adherence to High Church views, and against the Tyng party. Thus far considerable time has been wasted in discussion, but we look for active work the remainder of the session, as the committees are reporting and the time is growing short. The eyes of the various religious bodies are upon this august body, and it is hoped that their action will be equal to these progressive times, and worthy of the members of the Convention.

The last quadrennial report of the Sunday School work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, ending January 1, 1868, shows grand results, as follows: There was a net increase of schools of 2,333, officers and teachers 27,978, and 247,715 scholars. The last year was the most prosperous of any, there being an increase of 1.795 schools, 12,754 officers and teachers, and 101,269 scholars. The returns thus far of the current year indicate great prosperity.

About one hundred and thirty members of the Jewish congregation worshipping at the synagogue Adas Jeshurun in New York, met on a recent Sunday, and pledged themselves in the future to close their places of business on the Sabbath day. Twenty members declared their dissent, and will not be bound to comply with this action.

It was announced at the late meeting of the American Board of Foreign Missions, at Norwich, Ct., that the sum of ten thousand dollars would be annually realized from the bequest of Anson G. Phelps for ten years. Though dead he yet speaketh.

At the recent session of the Presbyterian and Congregational Convention of Wisconsin, considerable time was devoted to Home Evangelization. The discussion developed the fact that forty churches were unsupplied with ministerial labor. The Home Missionary Society were invited to supply the places with preaching. The subject of demitting the ministry from secular employments occupied some attention. A paper was adopted condemnatory of secret societies in general, and of Free Masonry in particular.

The Associate Reformed Presbyterian Synod of the South, has declined the overtures of the Northern body, and also refused to send a delegate to the United Presbyterian body of the North.

The Independent interprets the action of the late Roman Catholic Synod in New York, in regard to "pic nics," as not objecting to innocent holiday amusement, but the "kissing game," which forms so frequent, and, it is believed, so demoralizing a feature of such promiscuous gatherings. The same Synod directed priests how to wear their beards; and, in compliance with the degree, the progressive and native born Paulist Fathers, such as Mr. Hecker and Mr. Hewitt, immediately submitted to the tonsure of the chin as well as of the scalp.

The Episcopal Bishop of Kansas, at a late ordination, allowed a clergyman of the Swedish National Church, to unite with him in the rite of the laying on of hands, taking the ground that a State Church is not schismatical. Thus one branch of the Lutheran family was recognized, just as a late Episcopal authority has admitted, that Presbyterianism, being the established religion of Scotland, whose kirks are attended by the Queen, is not a schism in Great Britain.

The Unitarian Convention, which has just closed is sessions in New York city, in article ninth of the amended Constitution of the body, adopted a broad enough "guage" for the most liberal of "Liberals," in which it provides in order to secure the largest unity of the spirit, and the widest co-operation; it is understood that all declaration of the Conference, including the preamble and constitution, are expressions only of its majority, committing in no degree those who object to them, and dependent wholly for their effect upon the consent they command in their own merits from the churches represented, or belonging within the circle of fellowship.

The vote of the Presbyteries of the Old School as reported in the Presbyterian of the seventeenth, the number for approval of the Terms of Union is twenty-three, and for non-approval forty-five. The number of Presbyteries now on the roll of the General Assembly is one hundred and forty-two. To carry the Terms of Union submitted by the Assembly, three-fourths of the Presbyteries must vote for their approval. More than one-fourth having already voted for disapproval, the Basis of the Joint-Committee is defeated.

The twentieth triennial sermon of the General Conference of the Free Will Baptists commenced its sessions at Buffalo, October 7. About seventy members in attendance, and a large number of visitors. Mr. J. O'Donnell, of New York, was elected Moderator, and Revs. E. Knowlton, of Maine, and Dr. H. E. Whipple, of Michigan, were elected Assistant Moderators. Rev. J. D. Stewart, of Dover, N. H., was elected Secretary. Delegates were also present from the bodies of Baptists holding similar sentiments, desiring admission to the denomination. The accounts of Rev. G. F. Day, of New Hampshire, of his visit as corresponding messenger to several Baptist Conventions of Great Britain, was very interesting. We are without any further particulars of the doings of the Conference.

At the opening of the Nevada Conference, M. E. Church, Bishop Scott stated that ten years ago he could only secure the use of a vacant hall, as a preaching place. Now there are thirty-six churches erected at an average cost of $14,166.66 each, and ten parsonages, at an average cost of $975 each—the total church property valuation being $94,750. Ten years ago there was no Sunday School in that region. Now there are twenty-one schools, one hundred and twenty-one officers and teachers, and eight hundred and seventy-seven members.

ST. LOUIS, October 18.

DEAR BRODHEAD: "There is but one way to restore the Government and the Constitution, and that is for the" Democratic Executive Committee "to declare" Horatio's nomination and mine "null and void; compel" our friends at the South "to undo" their projects; "disperse" our platform and our candidates; and "allow the people to" vote for somebody they like. You can take my hat. I wrote you something of this sort last July, did I not? If I didn't, what did I write? F. P. B.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 23, 1868.

There seems to be a better feeling in regard to business both present and prospective, and the markets in general, are becoming more active. The most remarkable feature we have to notice, is the still further decline in Wheat, No. 2 having sold down to $1,25 in Chicago, yesterday, which is a decline of nearly one hundred per cent. compared with this time last year. Flour, also, is lower, in sympathy with Wheat. Other articles remain without important change.

APPLES—In good supply, and dull but unchanged; sales in a regular way, at $2,50 to $3,50 per bbl for fair to choice.

APPLE BUTTER—Is quiet and unchanged, sales in kegs at 75 to 85, and in crocks at 90 to 95.

CRANBERRIES—Very scarce and higher; prime easters cultivated may be quoted at $17 to $18 per bbl.

CHESTNUTS—Still quoted at $5,50 to $6 per bushel—bulk of the sales at $6.

CHEESE—Is unchanged but steady at 17 to 20, as to quality.

BUTTER—Is steady but without quotable change; sales packed at 30 35, and prime to choice Roll at 38 to 40.

EGGS—Firm and higher—one house reported sales of 18 bbls fresh packed at 28c.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet, and prices are unchanged at 13½ for shoulders; 16 to 18c for Ribbed and Clear Sides; and 20 for Sugar Cured Hams. Prime kettle rendered Lard 20c. Mess Pork $30,50 to $31.

LARD OIL—Is firm but unchanged at $1,25 for No, 2, and $1,50 for No. 1.

HAY—Sales at Allegheny Diamond Scales of 88 loads at $30 to $38; also, 3 loads Straw at $18 to $20. We can report 3 car loads of prime baled Hay at $30.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is in steady demand at $2,50, and but little offering. Timothy Seed is dull and unchanged at $3 to $3,25.

GRAIN—There is little or nothing doing in Wheat in this market, and the market is dull, with a drooping tendency. In the absence of sales, we quote prime Winter Red at $1,90 to $1,95. Spring Wheat does not seem to be wanted at any price. Corn, under the influence of larger arrivals, is weak, with a drooping tendency; prime Yellow is offering at $1,12 to $1,15; new crop is nominal at 85 to 90c. Oats a shade weaker and less active; we now quote at 65 to 66c, on track, and 69 to 70c, in store. We can report a sale of 1,000 bushels Rye at $1,50, and this, we may add, is regarded as the standard price for round lots. Barley is not so strong, and the arrivals appear to be on the increase; we now quote at $2,20 to $2,25 for State Spring, and $2,33 to $2,35 for do Fall.

POTATES—In rather better demand; we can report two car loads of prime Peach Blows at 95c, and 1 do at $1. Jersey Sweets are quoted at $5,50 to $5,75, and Baltimores, $4,50 to $5.

FLOUR—Is very dull, as buyers, generally, are taking just as little as possible, under the impression that prices may go still lower—this is nearly always the case on a declining market. Spring Wheat brands, $8 to $8,50 for good to medium, and $8,75 to $9 for choice. Mill prices are unchanged at $10,30 for Extra Family, in barrels, and $10, in sacks: Double Extra at $10,80, in bbls, and $10,50, in sacks. Rye Flour, $8,50.

RIVER NEWS.

The weather continues cloudy and cold with every appearance of snow. The landing presents a very bleak appearance, business being wholly suspended, and what is worse still, fears are entertained that there may be a freeze up before there is a rise.

On Wednesday morning at four o'clock, when ten miles above Cairo, under way in the Mississippi river, one sheet inside of the middle boiler of the City of Pekin suddenly broke open across the middle, making an oblong hole five by two inches, through which all the steam and water in the boilers rushed out with terrific force, scattering the fire bed and bricks in all directions, and severely injuring two negro deck hands, one of whom will probably die. None others were hurt, nor is the steamer injured, except as above related. She was towed to Cairo for repairs.

The Boaz passed Cairo on Wednesday, for this city, with a tow of empty coal barges.

Our good friend Jerry Cormack, who has for years been a clerk on the packets plying the Monongahela river, has quit that current of life and gone into a much sweeter business, having engaged with the new and extensive firm of Kramer & Bohn, confectioners and fruiterers, No. 179 Liberty street. We wish Jerry great success in his new line, and advise all of his old friends to patronize the first-class establishment with which he has connected himself.

—Captain Frank Maratta, it is thought, will take the Robert Burns out for New Orleans next week. Heretofore it was supposed he would take charge of the Swallow.

—The Vicksburg Herald, of recent date, says: We deeply regret to learn of the death of Lawrence Bataille, whose demise took place on Friday last, up Yazoo river, of congestion of the bowels. He was for a number of years clerk on Yazoo river boats, and by his uniform kindness made many friends.

—Intelligence received reports the St. Marys lying across the river at Flint Island, with her bows toward the Kentucky shore, both spars on the larboard side and guards badly twisted. She has a lighter alongside loaded with freight and no chance to get it ashore. It is thought that it will be impossible to get her off until the river rises.

—The Submarine No. 12, commanded by Captain Scudgeon, has arrived at Vicksburg, with about eighty tons of boilers, etc., from the wrecks of gunboats and steamboats up the Tallahatchie and Yazoo rivers. She succeeded in finding the gunboat Cairo, which was sunk by the Confederate torpedoes, in 1865, near Blake's plantation. She got a lot of plates from off her, as well as from the gunboat De Kalb. She will return to the Cairo for the purpose of receiving the guns on her.

—The New Albany Ledger, of Tuesday, contains the following: The Congressional Excursion Committee's petition, asking the city of New Albany to contribute $1,500 to their fund, was read in the Council last night, and referred to the Finance Committee. It is likely to remain referred for some time to come. It was a stunner—the petition we mean—but it is hard to extract blood from that oseulent vulgarly known as a turnip. The turn the committee took upon it is likely to nipit in the bud.

—The Louisville Journal, of Tuesday, contains the following personal items: Mr. Douglas Richey, a well-known steamboat pilot, formerly of New Albany, died at his residence in Winona county Minnesota, sixteen miles from Winona, on Saturday last, of dropsy. Mr. Richey had many warm friends in this city, to whom the news of his death will be very sad. He first learned to pilot from St. Louis to New Orleans, but afterward learned the river between Louisville and New Orleans under Mark Twain. Edmond, on the Eclipse. Peace to his ashes.

The same paper also says: Capt. Frank Carter gave a magnificent dinner yesterday, on board the America, in honor of some fair passengers from Clifton, at which a number of ladies and gentlemen from this city were present. It was noticeable that Capt. Frank paid most delicate and particular attention to a dazzling, dark-eyed, dark-haired, imperious beauty, and Capt. Joe McCullough was no less assiduous in his attentions to an elegant little blonde from the "Sunny South," who smiled so radiantly upon Capt. Joe that we fear for his peace of mind.

Gold closed in New York yesterday at 137⅞.

SAN FRANCISCO has experienced two more earthquake shocks, fortunately without additional damage.

MR. SEYMOUR'S "friends" in the Northeastern counties of Texas are organizing a military force with the avowed purpose of driving out Indians, negroes, and loyal whites. They comprehend what the election of SEYMOUR and BLAIR would signify.

TWO JUDGES in New York have issued, in a single batch, four thousand fraudulent certificates of naturalization, in aid of the Democrats. The Democratic portion of the Judiciary of the country seem to be striving to bring all the tribunals of justice under suspicion and consequently into contempt.

LET none fail to read the masterly speech made at Detroit last night by SCHUYLER COLFAX, in reply to the campaign oration of HORATIO SEYMOUR. It will be found on our first page. The scholarly and gifted COLFAX might rest his literary fame on this able, patriotic and unanswerable rejoinder to the disheartened HORATIO'S remarks.

MR. SEYMOUR has evidently taken the stump in the hope of allaying the fears of Conservative Democrats, excited by the incendiary fulminations of Mr. BLAIR. This he will not succeed in doing. Mr. BLAIR has a positive organization, and will continue to shock the public mind quite beyond Mr. SEYMOUR'S ability to soothe it.

TELEGRAPHIC ADVICES from West Virginia make it certain that the Republicans have elected all three of the Congressmen, and a majority of the members of the Legislature, thus securing a United States Senator in place of Mr. VAN WINKLE, whose term of service will expire on the fourth of March next.

The Democrats set up a claim to the Governor, but this is based not so much on the returns as on their arrangements for colonizing the southwestern counties with rebels from beyond, in which they doubtless failed. Mr. STEVENSON, the Republican candidate, we believe to be elected.

THE SUPREME COURT.

We learn from Harrisburg journals that Judge WILLIAMS has accepted the appointment, some time since tendered to him by Governor GEARY, and was to have taken his place upon the bench yesterday.

The Court, as now constituted, will command the respect and confidence of the people of the Commonwealth, whose rights, individually and collectively, will obtain from this tribunal the full protection which they demand. Obviously prominent among its earliest duties, will be that of proceeding at once to purge the temple of Justice, in every part, of such servants as have been found unworthy. We give expression to the unanimous sentiment, of all friends of a pure administration of the laws, when we advert to this as the one preliminary indispensable for a revived public respect.

THE ENEMY'S TACTICS.

What They Propose to Do—And How They Would do it—The Latest Democratic Circular

We remarked yesterday upon the presence in this region of Mr. WALLACE, the Chairman of the Democratic State Committee. We learn that his business has concerned Western Pennsylvania especially and that the Democratic editors and leading politicians of this part of the Commonwealth have attended, with him, a general consultation in this city. We have also been furnished with one of the latest secret circulars issued by their Allegheny County Committee, a copy of which is annexed.

The assemblage of these men, managed, as it has been, with quiet and secrecy, bodes no good to the public interests of the people. Their intentions may safely be interpreted in the light of their past achievements in the way of fraudulent evasions of the election laws, and it is both just and necessary to presume that their council has resulted in perfecting a plan of operations, for the next election, still more audacious and criminal. We warn our friends everywhere to be on their guard accordingly against the unscrupulous and desperate enemy. Our Vigilance Committees, all our canvassers, and all Election officers should be wide awake. Look out for every fraud and outrage of the past to be multiplied by the friends of BLAIR, at the November polls. There will be more forged and fraudulent naturalization papers; there will be voting early and often, as was openly recommended by one of their journals the other day; there will be colonizations of rebels whom they can spare from Maryland, from West Virginia, where they will abandon a contest which they found on Thursday to be useless, and of mud-larks from Ohio, where they feel that there isn't a ghost of a chance for them. Look out for them along the whole line and be prepared for the oldest villainies to be perpetrated in the newest ways and in the name of the Democracy. Heaven save the mark! and don't be astonished at the shameless impudence with which they will again claim, as in the circular below, that it is you who plot the villainy. This old cry of "Stop thief" won't save them either from suspicion, exposure or punishment. They no longer have a Supreme Court to spread the folds of its besmirched ermine over men, whether its own or other officials, whose right place is inside of a prison.

To every friend of the Union we offer this one word: Observe that this "circular" says that "Pennsylvania can be carried for SEYMOUR and BLAIR in November." Mark the assurance, note the means by which they hope to accomplish it, and then remember that it is your solemn duty as a good citizen, to see to it that their threat shall not be made good. You are fairly forewarned; now, will you not do your duty? Fight them with all the lawful weapons which they use themselves; let every Union man make all such suggestions his own; leave their unlawful devices entirely to themselves, and defeat all of them by your own activity, vigilance and zeal. In this way you can come back upon these adherents of the once lost cause, the friends of BLAIR, Anarchy and a bloody civil war with increased majorities for GRANT and Peace.

Here is the latest Democratic circular:

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS, 104 Fifth street, Pittsburgh, Oct. 21, 1868.

DEAR SIR: The late election in Pennsylvania was lost by the Democracy because of the unscrupulous practices employed by the opposition, apparently by secret preconcert, in every part of the State, and the lack of suspicion and proper vigilance on our part to counteract them.

We now understand much better the enemy's tactics, and we can, by energetic means, overcome in the next election the meagre majority obtained against us in the last. Pennsylvan a can be carried for Seymour and Blair on the 3d of November.

We ask you to look to it that your District will do its share in this ——— of the ——— majority to the extent of ——— votes at your polls will be your full quota. Now for the sake of your country and your party undertake and accomplish this. Many other Districts in this county we can assure you will do more than their proportion.

Work systematically. Make out a full list at once, if you have it not already, of all your Democrats. Lose no time in seeing that each one's name is on the Assessor's list. Have your list at the polls, and mark off the names as each one votes. By noon have conveyances on hand to bring up our voters who otherwise might not attend.

Press particularly on our people to come fully prepared and vote early in the day.

Have a couple of decided men as challengers at the windows to watch every vote offered, and challenge all that are doubtful.

By action and vigilance we can make the day ours. Let your work be evident in the returns.

By Order of Democratic Committee,
THOMAS J. KEENAN, Chairman.

PARTY DISTINCTIONS.

In all civilized countries, no matter what may be the special form of government prevailing in each, two political parties exist, and no more. If third parties spring up they have necessarily no root, and speedily wither away. These two intrinsic and indispensble parties are each known by different names in different nations and ages.

One of them stands with its face to the Past. It reverences antiquity. Precedent is its highest authority. Usage the only law by which it will consent to be bound. It attaches to what has been, a value superior to that which it concedes to what ought to be. Old constitutions of government are its delight. If so old as to be covered with the mould and decay of centuries, and to such a degree as to be an obstruction rather than a help to political society, so much the better in its estimation. It judges constitutions to be the main things; blindly supposing that all the men, women and children of any particular nation were created that the organic law there obtaining might have people over whom to exercise domination. An excrescence lopped away, an old abuse rectified, or a hoary error dissipated, it esteems cause for lamentation. This is the Conservative party, no matter by what name it may be christened here or there.

The other party stands with its face to the Future, gladly meeting necessary and wholesome changes as they come. It does not believe wisdom died with the fathers. On the contrary, it knows that many of the mistakes or crimes of the fathers survived them and are come down to torment the present age. What is good it thankfully receives. What is bad, it claims the right to reject. Man, it holds, is greater than his institutions, and has not only authority, but is under imperative obligations, to conform them, from generation to generation, to the conditions of his knowledge, to the wants that press upon him, and to the aspirations that call forth his most earnest efforts. This is the party of Progress.

In running his eyes over Europe, as it is to-day, and backward as it has been through all the historic centuries, the thoughtful observer perceives this Conservative party confronting peoples as the champion of old abuses, everywhere esteeming an old wrong better than a new virtue, and sturdily endeavoring to prevent all ameliorations. Recently it appeared in Italy as the party of the hierarchy, holding that the former night was better than the coming day, and that VICTOR EMANUEL, CAVOUR and GARIBALDI were bad and dangerous men because the advocates of changes in political institutions so as to adapt them to the needs of modern society. In Great Britain this same party pleads the sanction of past ages against disestablishing the Episcopal Church, against secularizing education, against the extension of the elective franchise, and against all movements by which prescription and aristocracy shall be disturbed in the placid enjoyment of their ancient prerogatives. In Spain it lately stood as a body-guard around Queen ISABELLA, excusing her personal vices, justifying by musty precedents the despotism of her rule, and trying to smother all the longings of the people for an organization of government based upon just and modern ideas of the sovereignty of the people and the responsibility of public administrators. In the United States, for a quarter of a century, this party kept up a continual clamor against the spirit of Liberty which animated more and more the hearts of the population. It held the feudal system of the Dark Ages, and in the most malevolent form, to be the best model of civil organization, pretended to find that system entrenched in the national Constitution, and sanctified thereby, and resisted all the attempts of the masses to purify and ennoble their institutions on the ground of covenants entered into between the forefathers, and the authority of Divine Revelation. Progress it denounced, on the one hand, as Jacobinism, and on the other as Infidelity. Failing by these efforts to stop the onward sweep of human affairs, it appealed from the Constitution to still earlier models of government, made gigantic war upon it and all who stood by it, no matter under what interpretation of its contents, and sought to get back to a feudal monarchy, with social life and physical industry organized to match it.

Standing over against this party, is everywhere discovered the party of Progress. Discriminating wisely between what is really good and what is simply old, this party continually seeks to drop all that is effete and worn out, and to take on whatever is demonstrated to be an improvement. In Italy, this party demands national unity, responsible government, and popular education. In Great Britain it contends for universal suffrage, for freedom in religion, and for the amelioration of distinctions founded in caste. In Spain, it espouses freedom of worship, popular education, and the abrogation of slavery. In the United States it demands the absolute political equality of all men, irrespective of race, color, or condition.

Quite lately the Conservative party in the United States has apparently again fallen in love with the Constitution, espousing it with as much vehemence as it exhibited during the war in labors to destroy it. There is no inconsistency in this, whatever superficial thinkers may allege to the contrary. No Constitution of government, however wisely adapted to the actual condition of the special people when set up, can last forever. Changes in a nation are as inevitable as in each individual composing it. What is suited to the youth of a man, or of any aggregation of men, often proves most unsuited to his or their middle age. As a single human organism expands, develops, executes higher functions, feels new wants, bounds forward under the impulse of fresh aspirations, so do those accumulations of such organisms which are denominated nations. Institutions must be altered to meet the successive stages of national development, and will be altered, whoever and whatever may oppose. No nation ever has held precisely the same Constitution for a century, and no nation ever will. A man might as well say he will not change the particles of which his body is composed to-day, as a nation affirm it will keep its institutions for a hundred years as they are at the present moment.

The party of Progress in the United States is now, and has always been, seeking to adapt its institutions to the highest state of political knowledge and to the best impulses of the times. Freedom, expansion, choice, the forsaking of old errors, the embracement of all practicable improvements—these are the ends it keeps steadily in view. The Conservative party naturally resists these movements. Perceiving that it cannot accomplish all it would, it tries to do all it can. As it sees it cannot get back of the Constitution, to a form of government based upon arrogated power in the hands of one or a few, it strives to get away from the Constitution, as the march of events has modified and exalted it, to what it was in its worst estate, when it was expounded to deny that the four millions of black people living under it had any rights that white folk were bound to respect; when it turned every white man, upon occasion, into a bloodhound to pursue panting fugitives flying in eager quest after freedom; when it denied the right of free speech and of a free press, and held the right of petition for a redress of grievances to be not simply a nullity, but a flagrant enormity. To get away from the Constitution as it has been made by the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Amendments, would be something. To get back to the Constitution as it was, covering Slavery with an impenetrable shield, would be an achievement. It would be rolling the shadow on the dial of time backward several degrees. But what the Conservatives are really after, is not the Constitution, but what lies behind it. If the full measure of darkness desired cannot be obtained, then they want all the darkness they can possibly get, hoping that if a reaction shall once be established it will go further than back to the Constitution as it was, even to the reign of Despotism and Old Night.

This is so palpable that the Conservatives deceive no one except the few who are most anxious to be duped. For the Constitution, as proclaiming and defending Liberty, Equality and Fraternity, they have no love; otherwise they would esteem the amended instrument better than it was as it came from the original framers of it. If they could only put the Republic as the Chinese aristocrats do the feet of their female infants, into an encasement that would stop expansion, the free development, of all the joints and articulations thereof, they would be satisfied. That they cannot do; and hence their tribulation. The party of Progress has the masses with it, and will execute its beneficent pprposes, repressing wrong, giving right room and verge in which to thrive, and leading on the nation in the grand march of improvement for which Destiny opens the way before it.

THE NEW LEGISLATURE.

Elsewhere we give a list of the members elect to the two Houses of the General Assembly.

Eleven Senators were chosen on the 13th inst. for the 2d, 4th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 18th, 19th, 23d, 33d, 25th and 27th districts. Of the new Senators seven are Republicans and four Democrats; a Democratic gain of two. These gains are in the 12th and 19th districts. In the 12th, Mr. SHOEMAKER defeated Mr. STANLEY WOODWARD three years ago, though the district was heavily Democratic. This year the Democrats were united on their candidate, Mr. J. S. SLOCUM, and easily elected him. In the 19th Mr. DUNCAN supercedes Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. DUNCAN received the certificate of election three years ago, but was unseated in favor of his competitor. The district has always been close, and Mr. DUNCAN'S present majority is only two hundred and fifty.

In the 4th, 22d, 23d, and 25th district, the old Senators were re-elected; that is to say, GEORGE CONNELL in the 4th, HARRY WHITE in the 22d, and JAMES L. GRAHAM in the 25th, Republicans, and WM. A. WALLACE in the 23d, Democrat.

The remaining new members are, A. W. HENSZEY in the 2d district, P. M. OSTERHOUT in the 11th, A. G. OLMSTED in the 13th, and JAMES KERR in the 27th, Republicans; A. G. MILLER in the 18th, Democrat.

Mr. HENSZEY succeeds Mr. RIDGEWAY, Mr. OSTERHOUT Mr. LANDON, Mr. OLMSTED Mr. COLES, Mr. MILLER Mr. GLATZ, and Mr. KERR Mr. R. AUDLEY BROWN.

In point of ability the Senate remains substantially as before.

In the House there is an unusual proportion of new members, so that the character of the body must remain undisclosed until it gets to work.

In the last Senate the Republicans had seven majority; in the present body, three. In the last House the Republican majority was eight; in the new House, it is twenty-three. Republican gain on joint ballot, twenty-three.

THE AMOUNT OF AMERICAN SECURITIES, national, State and corporate, held in Europe, is estimated at the large sum of $938,400,000, divided as follows:

United States Bonds	$700,000,000
Sterling bonds of Railroad Companies	33,000,000
Sterling bonds of Canal and Water Co's.	8,000,000
Dollar bonds of Railroad and other Companies	40,000,000
Railroad Stocks	56,000,000
State bonds	60,000,000
Miscellaneous Stocks	20,000,000
Total	$938,000,000

Of course this is not an exact but an approximate statement, for no registration exists, or is possible, by which the actual amount can be definitely ascertained. The sum, too, varies considerably from time to time, owing as well to political as to monetary causes. A certain liability to have the whole or part of these securities sent home for sale, the proceeds to be remitted, always remains. But this liability is constantly restrained by prudential and other consideration. If any of them fall here below the estimated value in Europe, they are retained there, and this operates as a perpetual check to a process which would otherwise entail great inconveniences, if not serious disasters.

The annual interest, which is the rent of this capital, is remitted in gold or its equivalent, and this contributes materially to keep exchange against this country, and, consequently, to maintain the heavy drain of specie.

HOW ANXIOUSLY the Southern Democracy await the "toot" of Forrest's horn, which shall again call them to arms! A Georgia paper, the Atlanta Constitution, of the 14th, thus significantly comments upon the election returns from the North:

STAND FIRM.—Our dispatches tell the story. If true, the fate of the Republic is sealed, and from the altar on which the States are immolated will rise the smoke of sacrificial liberty, and despotism must be the desperate successor. Though we have no word of encouragement to our readers, we conjure them to stand firm, preserve their honor, save Georgia, and if the temple must fall, accept a glorious tomb beneath the ruins.

THE Brenham Banner, a Rebel organ in Texas, prints, on the 1st inst., a letter from its New Orleans correspondent, whom it indorses as "so situated as to be thoroughly posted in matters whereof he writes," and who says:

"If no fight occurs prior to election, there will be one on election day * * * Every carpet bagger and scallawag incendiary is known; and, when the struggle comes, they will reap the whirlwind as surely as they have sown the wind. THEIR DAYS ARE NUMBERED."

OUR readers may have read the story of the old lady whose horse ran away with her. In reciting the incident she said she "put her trust in Providence until the brichin broke, and then she said she did'nt know what to do." Pennsylvania was the brichin of Democracy.

WARNED IN TIME, BUT IN VAIN.

In June last, a leading Democratic journal thus warned its friends of all the perils which have since beset them:

"Call you Belmont, Seymour and Tilden our friends? We don't believe they are. Our friends are the friends of the poor men; those who would aid to lift the great burden of debt and taxation from the shoulders of the poor, laboring men of the country, where such men as Belmont have put it, and where such men as Seymour, Tilden, and company seek to keep it. We back our friends, and that is why we back the workingmen of the country against the encroachments of the mahogany-legs and bondholders. How true it is that the friends of the bondholders, in either party, think alike, feel alike, and act alike! With them the interests of their masters, the bond lords, are paramount to all others. What a beautiful fix we should be in were we to adopt Gov. Seymour's views, re-affirming in substance the Jacobin platform upon the financial question. Out upon the thought! Spurn all such suggestions! Treat as enemies all who would counsel such suicidal policy! Away with the insidious advice of those who would delude, betray, and ruin us! It is false to Democracy! It is treason to the country! It is death to liberty! Let the people beware! What have the Blairs in common with the Democratic party? They all contributed, to the extent of their ability, to widen the gulf and increase the bitterness between the North and South, which led to the late tremendous convulsions. It is this Blair family, whose history is thus truthfully sketched, which now claims position and a voice in the Democratic party. As the Democratic party fallen so low as to be used by such creatures? Is it so craven as to allow such fellows to say what it shall do or what it shall not do?"—La Crosse Democrat

THE REAL DEMOCRATIC REPRESENTATIVE.

When the New York Convention nominated SEYMOUR, no enthusiasm was manifested, for his name fell like a wet blanket upon Democratic aspirants. But, says the New York Advertiser:

How different the case with Blair. The moment his name was mentioned for the Vice Presidency a shout like the rebel yell of yore filled the hall; cheer followed upon cheer, and hats went flying through the air. No sooner had the rebel General Preston nominated him, and Forrest and Vance seconded the nomination, than it became apparent that he was the unanimous choice of the Convention, and so it proved. Five days before he had not been thought of, much less urged for the place. His Brodhead letter, however, had made its appearance in the meanwhile, and this accounted for his overwhelming popularity in the Convention. This manifesto virtually became the platform of the party. The leaders of the Southern wing at once planted themselves upon it on their return home, and their Northern allies, with but few exceptions followed suit.

WHAT YOUNG MEN CAN DO.

In Gibson county, Ind., which this year for the first time gave a Republican majority, not less than seventy-six young men, at Princeton, casting their vote for Governor, formed in procession and marched, preceded by a band of music, to the polls, and supported the Republican ticket. The Captain of the party was ANDREW MCMASTER, a relative of one of our Pittsburgh lawyers.

SOUTHERN DEMOCRATIC journals are naturally indignant at the proposed withdrawal of SEYMOUR and BLAIR from their positions as candidates. Their Northern allies are not displeased with anything SEYMOUR has done or BLAIR said in their behalf. Only their fears, now as eight years ago, get the better of their valor.

THE Philadelphia Press says:

"It is a significant fact that the Democratic strength in Pennsylvania always manifests itself at the October elections. For twenty-eight years this has been the rule. The following table will prove it beyond a doubt:

Year.	October.	November.	Dem. loss.

The Southern Interpretation of the New York Platform.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21.—An eye witness who was present at the recent horrible outrage in Franklin, states that on the night of the 17th inst., Judge Chase, formerly of the Ohio Legislature, and Col. Pope, sheriff, late commander of the Thirty-third Illinois Volunteers, were sitting, at half-past eight o'clock p. m., on the rear balcony of their hotel, when a band of men rushed upon them and shot Col. Pope almost to pieces.

In the struggle Judge Chase escaped to the street, but was speedily shot and stabbed. The citizens refused to allow coffins to be made for them, and treated their remains with barbarous indignities. A company of Seymour Knights were drawn up in line near the hotel when this occurred. Col. Pope's remains were forwarded to Illinois to-day, with his wife, who has become a raving maniac.

As I have before stated, between now and the Presidential election, there will be a wholesale slaughter of Union men.

The Old Hickory Democracy Moving.

The Harrisburg State Guard of Tuesday says: We have the highest authority for stating that all the sons of ex-Governor David R. Porter will vote and work for Grant and Colfax. They believe that the best way to promote the interests of the country and bring peace and freedom to all the inhabitants thereof is to elect General Ulysses S. Grant as President of the United States. They don't believe that Grant is a drunkard or incompetent. Such epithets cannot help but disgust honorable men in both parties, and when such men as the Porters—a name honored in the history of the Commonwealth and identified with the Democratic party in Pennsylvania almost from its birth—come out from the support of Seymour and Blair, it is indeed time for our opponents to talk of changing their ticket.

The Four Equal Issues.

I. Whether the will of the American people, constitutionally expressed, is the law of the land?

II. Whether, in the United States, all men are endowed with equal rights?

III. Whether it is just and reasonable to pay our debts, or to repudiate them?

IV. Whether economy and constitutional purity of administration will, on the whole, be best secured by the election of Mr. Seymour or Gen. Grant.—Motley's speech.

Grant in South Carolina.

Mr. J. Q. Adams has been making some good speeches in South Carolina, whose only fault was, as one of the Charleston papers remarked, that the arguments sounded very much as though they belonged on the Republican side,

Mr. Adams appears to have made in Charleston, last Friday, the most convincing of all his addresses. To his own smazement he carried his audience by storm, and at the end of his speech they broke out in cheers for Grant! A private note from a lady who was present tells this curious story:

"Mr. Adams spoke from the balcony of the Charleston Hotel, Friday evening last, to a very large audience. He appeared on the balcony, and after some remarks by Mr. Campbell, begging the people to receive Mr. Adams kindly, Mr. Adams began to speak, and continued more than an hour.

"He talked a great deal of 'my friend General Hampton,' bringing in his name every few minutes, and at last, after having instructed the audience in their duty until he could scarcely speak, he said: "Now, my friends, I want to ask you a question, which I want you to answer just as you feel. Who do you want for President?

"One great shout went up from the audience: 'Grant! Grant! Grant!"

"Then there was a long pause, during which Mr. Adams took some water, wiped his face with his handkerchief, and looked rather foolish; after which there was a hearty laugh.

"Mr. Adams then said: 'Well, my friends, you might have a worse man for President.' After clearing his throat, he went on and made an excellent Republican speech for Grant.

"The men with Mr. Adams on the balcony were very indignant, and swore as only Southern men can.

"After going from the balcony into the parlor, only a few of those who were with him on the balcony consented to be introduced to him. The men said he was trying to carry water on both shoulders, and to keep friends with both sides. The meeting was an orderly one."—N. Y. Eve. Post.

Grant in Kentucky.

My idea that Grant would be likely to carry Kentucky, has been confirmed by some of the worst rebels in the State, who offered to bet ten to one that he would do so. Leading men in this community, say that they will willingly accept General Grant for their future dictator, and believe that his past record, in which he has done nothing objectionable to any reasonable Southern man, will place the Southern States in unity for the support of one so well indorsed by his past career as an officer in the Federal army.

They say that they never believed that Seymour, whom they call a broken down politician of New York, could ever be instrumental in relieving the Southern States from their degraded condition. They say it can only be done by a man like General Grant, who has the moral courage and love of country.

A high-toned gentleman of this city, who participated as an officer in the late rebellion, says that General Grant has it in his power to become one of the most popular men the American people ever had for a leader. Grant, he thinks, will eventually become, should he pursue the course marked out for him, a bright, guiding star for all future generations. He says that the majority of the soldiers in the Southern States, who were so eager for a fight in 1861, are now strongly in favor of peace—peace forever.—Lexington Letter.

A SLIGHT COLD, COUGH,

COUNSEL FOR THE CARELESS.

The body is a machine, and carelessness in its management is as sure to lead to evil results as carelessness in the management of a steam engine. Yet the last thing that most people think of is the protection of this delicate piece of the Creator's handiwork from the subtle causes of disease by which it is surrounded. It is no easy thing to repair the system when in ruins; but there is no difficulty in fortifying it against many of the dangers to which it is exposed. Guard against nervous debility. At the first symptom of this fore-runner of more serious ailments, sustain the flagging energies of nature with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Take it regularly and persistently, until bodily vigor is thoroughly restored. It creates an appetite, promotes—or, it might as properly be said compels—the complete digestion of the food, regulates the secretive action of the liver, tones and invigorates the bowels, improves the condition of the blood, and gives firmness to the nerves. Upon a system thus strengthened and regulated in all its important functions, the fogs and exhalations of autumn, pregnant with the elements of intermittent fever, can make little or no impression. Whoever supposes that fever and ague is an unavoidable evil in certain districts, at this season of the year, is egregiously mistaken. As effectually as a draught of cold air is shut out by the closing of a door, this complaint, and all disorders of a miasmatic type, may be prevented by the use of the BITTERS. When sickness can be avoided by a means so safe and simple, is it not the merest fatuity to neglect the proffered antidote? Regarded either as a preventive or a cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fever, nervous disorders, general debility, or constipation of the bowels, this pure vegetable preparation stands alone.

DISEASED LUNGS.

There is no doubt whatever that diseases of the lungs, or ulcers of whatever sort, on any of the internal organs may be and are frequently cured, and a complete condition of health established. If the elaborative functions, of which the stomach is the primary and most important one, are restored to a condition to do the repairing of the human system, ulcers or sores, whether upon the lungs, the liver, the kidneys or the bowels, or upon the legs, as is frequently the case, can be made to heal, and a complete standard of health re-established.

We have frequently seen these results from the use of Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, a pleasant and agreeable medicine, which will ripen up and carry out the animal economy all effete and used up material. Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is enriched by some of the most valuable plants and herbs known to be useful and curative in all deteriorated states of the human blood, and whilst it adds to its plasma, it at the same time stimulates, gently but effectively, the skin, the kidneys, the liver and the glandular system to sufficient action to enable the body to take on healthful action and eradicate the disease. The sick and afflicted should bear in mind the virtues of this great medicine, and if those who are sufficiently alive to the importance of health, will resort to it in the beginning of a cough or cold, there would be no falling into declines and rapid consumption, so hopelessly incurable, and so most surely fatal. Let any one afflicted with any pulmonary disease try but one bottle, and I cy will be convinced of the value of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure. Sold by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at Dr. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood St. Dr. KEYSER'S RESIDENT OFFICE for LUNG AND CHRONIC DISEASES, 140 PENN STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA. FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 23, 1868.

Gold opened stronger this morning, and touched 136, but towards noon the market fluctuated alternately from 135¾, down to 135; and closed strong. Gold is loaning flat since the government is selling large amounts secretly besides the regular sales of 300,000 per day. The short interest was still more increased yesterday, and the reaction this morning is a consequence of covering by weak parties. It seems now to be settled that lower prices will be made for gold, and whether the government anticipates the November coupons, or not the disposition of importers, and other speculators is to hold off the market for the present. The November election may give the downward tendency, more impetus, and for a few days we may see lower rates than were made since the close of the war.

Government bonds are well sustained, despite the tight money market, and the general opinion is that the market must take a sharp upward turn so soon as the locked up money is released. It seems however that every body has discounted this fact, and has speculated on a rise; the the absolute investment demand may be less urgent, and as a consequence those at the head market might be disposed to sell, and thereby lower the premium considerably. The large importation of goods now coming into New York, however, may stimulate the export of bonds on speculation, end the low gold premium would favor higher prices in Europe; it is in fact the only means by which importers can save themselves against heavy losses by the decline of gold to buy bonds now and told them until the gold has touched its probable lowest point.

Stocks are remarkably firm, and it seems to be true that all the large stock dealers' and speculators ie the clique, have secured all the money they want at a low rate of interest. Fort Wayne and Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, are the stongest stocks on the list; next to, is Erie, which is rapidly picked up by strong parties the moment it declines; in Cleveland & Pittsburgh strong parties are buying now, and are holding a large amount of stocks at from 88 to 90½. Rock Island is expected to reach 112, and old Southern 95. New York Central ts firm. Express shares are just ready for a rise, which is expected any moment. Bank stocks are not much inquired for at present, although good dividends are expected.

Busidess quiet.

—The following has been handed us for insertion. We publish it as one view of a situation, which is certainly abnormal, and is the subject of much discussion among thoughtful men. The following figures, showing the amount and value of breadstuffs in store hereat the close of last week, will help to a comprehension of the writer's statements:

Flour...	82,327	average,	$6 50 ...	$ 535,125
Wheat.	1,585,500	"	1 29½ ...	2,053,222
Corn....	537 946	"	88 ...	473,383
Oats.....	976,165	"	49½ ...	433,702
Rye.....	255,165	"	1 20 ...	306,198
Barley	519,810	"	1 80 ...	935,668
Total.....				$4,737,298

This is within $880,000 of the total capital of all the Chicago National Banks, ($5,500,000), as exhibited in their last quarterly statement; and its cost to the holders probably exceeds that capital, the greater portion having been bought when grain was much htgher in price than now.

"The question of grain stocks at this point is beginning to excite very considerable thought among our bankers and business men. We have at this time about four million bushels of grain (full one-half of our elevator capacity) lying in store perfectly dead. Our receipts are daily exceeding our shipments, hence our stocks are constantly increasing rather than diminishing, as should be the case at this time of the year, so near to the close of the shipping season. Already quite a number of our elevators are full, or nearly so, rendering it exceedingly difficult to handle the receipts of their connecting roads. The prospect now is that we shall go into the winter with our present or increased stocks of grain—by no means a flattering prospect, leaving entirely out of the question the best interests of the city and trade. The cause of our accumulated stocks is to be found in the unwillingness of dealers, as well in the country as in the city, to conform their ideas to the present situation of events and to govern their actions accordingly. They do not seem to appreciate the enormous yield of grain all over the world during the past season, and its effect upon values. The fact is, we have been running upon a high key for a few years past—upon a high standard of values, upon "short crops and famine prices"—and now that the tables are turned, we unwillingly and reluctantly submit to the change, and that only with large loss to buyers, as has been the experience of every long holder of grain since the first of August, and I think I may almost say since the first of January last. We are apt to think grain is cheap at present prices, simply for the reason that it has ruled so much higher during the past two years, and, consequently, we buy for an advance. This is the cause far our accumulation at the present time. We lose sight of the fact that the present state of things is entirely different from the situation in 1866 and 1867. There is now no scarcity anywhere. In this country there is a very large surplus, and the value of this surplus must be regulated entirely by the export value. This on wheat is not above about $1,65 in New York at the present time, or $1,25 here, allowing nothing for marginal profit. With Liverpool and New York remaining at present quotations, this market, to day, should not be above $1,15 on the present basis of freights, and this, or a lower limit, is the point we must sooner or later strike, and the sooner our dealers realize this fact, the better for their own interests. Corn, with scarcely an exception, has been a "loosing game" to every one who has bought it, since the opening of navigation. To day there is a stock of three millions of bushels in the city of New York, and nearly as much more in Buffalo and afloat on the lakes and canals. The demand for it, in view of the immense crop of 1868, South and West, just commencing to move, is merely nominal. Corn here should not, to-day, rule at over eighty cents, and this figure would leave no marginal profit on shipments for export to Liverpool. The article of barley, with as large a crop as the West ever gathered, and more than an average crop in the country at large, is being piled up here by the millions, simply upon the belief that it will sell at $2,50, because it sold at that figure last spring, after this section had been tripped of its supplies for Eastern account, and our brewers and malsters caught with no stock on hand. A more senseless base of speculaaion never was heard of. Thus you see the cause of our accumulation at this time. Our banks of course aid the piling up stocks here, or such a staue of things would not exist. It is idle to talk of this city carrying the amount of property we are carrying without the aid of our banks. If they desire its removal, they of course have it in their power to effect it. Our dealers, thinking this property worth ten or twenty or thirty cents per bushel above export value, and desiring to carry it here at a loss to every one concerned, is to no purpose, as you are aware, so that our banks refuse to carry it. So you see it does not rest alone with our dealers here and in the country."—Chicago Tribune, 22d.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 23, 1868.

CRUDE.

The market although quiet was a little firmer to-day, and prices compared with yesterday ruled a shade higher. We can report 1,000 bbls October, at 12; 600 bbls on spot at 11¾; and 1,000 bbls, seller for the balance of 1868, at 11½. The demand, however, is confined mainly to early deliveries, and in most instances buyers hold off until they are forced to buy, in anticipating that by so doing they may be able to take advantage of a decline. On the other hand, there is but comparatively little oil offering, which is accounted for in the fact that the margin between Oil City, and this market is so very small that there is really nothing in it, to justify the outlay of capital and risk. It is reported that oil is scarce in the oil regions, as the shipments both East and Cleveland are large.

REFINED.

The market was a soade firmer to-day, in consequence of the continued favorable advices from Antwerp, though compared with yesterday, prices are really no higher. We can report 2,000 bbls for the lest half of October at 29¾; and 500 each October and November at 29¼. October to December, was quoted at 29¼ to 29½. All 1869, 500 per month, is also firmer, no offers to sell below 31, but there were no buyers at thai figure. The "shorts" for the month are reported pretty well covered, and it is said that the great proportion of the sales made during this week have been to buyers of this kind; That the market to was firmer te day was generally conceded, and there are but few offers to sell, refiners feeling disposed to hold back in expectation that they may realize still better prices.

HYDE PARK CORNER.

One fine autumn day, in the year 1750, as His Majesty George II. was taking a ride in Hyde Park, his eye was attracted by the figure of an old soldier, who was resting on a bench placed at the foot of an old oak tree. The king, whose memory of faces was remarkable, recognized him as a veteran who had fought bravely by his side in some of his continental battles; and kindly accosting him, the old man, who was lame, hobbled towards him.

"Well, my friend," said the monarch, "it is now some years since we heard the bullets whistle at the battle of Dettingen; tell me what has befallen you since."

"I was wounded in the leg, please your majesty, and received my discharge, and a pension, on which my wife and I are living and trying to bring up our only son."

"Are you comfortable? Is there anything you particularly wish for?"

"Please your majesty, if I might make bold to speak, there is one thing that would make my wife, poor woman, as happy as a queen, if she could only get it. Our son is a clever boy, and we are anxious to give him a good education, we try every means in our power to turn an honest penny; so my wife keeps an apple stall outside the Park gate, and on fine days, when she is able to be out, she often sells a good deal. But sun and dust spoil the fruit, and rainy weather keeps her at home; so her profits are but little—not near enough to keep her boy at school. Now, please your majesty, if you would have the goodness to give her the bit of ground outside the Park gate, we could build a shed for her fruit-stall, and it would be, I may say, like an estate to us."

The good-natured monarch smiled, and said, "You shall have it, my friend. I wish all my subjects were as moderate in their requests as you." He then rode on followed by the grateful blessings of his faithful veteran.

In a few days a formal conveyance of the bit of ground to James Allen, his wife, and their heirs for ever, was forwarded to their humble dwelling. The desired shed was speedily erected, and the good woman's trade prospered beyond her expectations. Often, indeed, the King himself would stop at the Park gate to accost her, and taking an apple from her tempting store, deposit a golden token in its place. She was thus enabled to procure a good education for her son, who really possessed considerable talents.

"Years rolled on. George II, and the veteran were both gathered to their fathers, but Mrs. Allen still carried on her trade, hoping to lay up some money for her son, who was become a fine young man and had obtained a situation as head clerk in a large haberdashery establishment. He lived with his mother, in a neat though humble dwelling, a little way out of the city; and thither he hoped soon to bring a fair young bride, the daughter of a Mr. Gray, a music teacher, who resided near them. "Sweet Lucy Gray !" as her lover was wont to call her, had given her consent, and the happy day was already fixed.

One morning, however, when Mrs. Allen proceeded as usual to her place of merchandise, she was startled to perceive the space around her fruit stall filled with workmen conveying stones, mortar, and all the implements necessary for commencing a building. Some were standing around the shed, evidently preparing to demolish it. "Come, old lady," said one of the men, "move your things out of this as fast as you can, for we can do nothing until the shed is down."

"My shed !" she exclaimed; "and who has given you authority to touch it."

"The Lord Chancellor," was the reply; "he has chosen this spot for a palace that he is going to build, and which is intended to be somewhat grander than your fruit-stall. So look sharp about moving your property, for the shed must come down."

Vain were the poor woman's tears and lamentations; her repeated assertions that the late king had given her the ground for her own, were treated with ridicule; and at length she returned home, heart-sick and desponding.

Misfortunes, is is said, seldom come alone. That evening Edward Allen entered his mother's dwelling, wearing a countenance as dejected as her own. He threw himself on a chair and sighed deeply. "Oh, mother!" he said, "I fear we are ruined: Mr. Elliot has failed for an immense sum; there is an execution on his house and goods, and I and all his clerks are turned adrift. Every penny we possess was lodged in his hands, and now we shall lose it all. Besides, there have been lately so many failures in the city, that numbers of young men are seeking employment, and I'm sure I don't know where to turn to look for it. I suppose," he added, trying to smile, "we shall have nothing to depend on but your little trade; and I must give up the hope of marrying sweet Lucy Gray. It will be hard enough to see you suffering from poverty without bringing her to share it."

"Oh, Edward," said his dear mother, "what you tell me is bad enough, but, my poor boy, I have still worse news for you." She then, with many tears, related the events of the morning, and concluded by asking him what they were to do. Edward paused. "And so," said he at length, "the Chancellor has taken a fancy to my mother's ground, and her poor fruit-stall must come down to make room for his stately palace. Well, we shall see. Thank God we live in free, happy England, where the highest has no power to oppress the lowest. Let his lordship build on; he cannot seize that which his sovereign bestowed on another. Let us rest quietly to-night, and I feel certain that all will be well."

The following day Edward presented himself at the dwelling of the Lord Chancellor. "Can I see his lordship?" he inquired of the grave official who answered his summons.

"My Lord is engaged just now, and cannot be seen except on urgent business.

"My business is urgent," replied the young man; "but I will await his lordship's leisure."

And a long waiting he had. At length, after sitting in an ante-room for several hours, he was invited to enter the audience chamber. There, at a table covered with books and papers, sat Lord Apsley. He was a dignified-looking man, still in the prime of life, with a pleasant countenance and quick, penetrating eye. "Well, my friend," he said, "what can I do for you."

"Your lordship can do much," replied Edward; "yet all I seek is justice. You have chosen, as the site for your new palace, a piece of ground which his majesty King George II. bestowed on my parents and their heirs forever, and since my father's death, my mother has remained in undisturbed possession. If your lordship will please to read this paper, you will see that what I state is the fact.

Lord Apsley took the document, and perused it attentively. "You are right, young man," he said; "the ground is indeed secured to your family by the act of our late gracious sovereign. I took possession of it, believing it to be a waste spot, but I now find I must become the tenant of your surviving parent. What does she expect for it?"

"That," said Edward, "she is satisfied to leave to your lordship. We are confident that the chief lawgiver of our country will do what is just and right."

"You shall not be disappointed young man," replied the Chancellor. "I was offered a site for my palace, equally eligible, at a yearly rent of four hundred pounds. That sum I will pay your mother, and have it properly secured to her heirs forever."

Edward thanked his lordship, and respectfully withdrew.

Before a week had elapsed, his mother was established in a neat and comfortable dwelling in one of the suburbs; and ere two had gone by, sweet Lucy (no longer Gray) might be seen in the sunny little garden, filling a basket with the fruit of a golden pippin-tree, which the old lady pronounced to be almost as fine as the apples which his gracious majesty King George II. was wont to select from her stall at Hyde Park Corner.

And thus it came to pass, that the stately mansion of England's warrior-duke is subject, at the present day, to a ground rent of four hundred pounds a year, payable to the representatives of the old apple woman.

A Hundred Years in Prison.

A certain housebreaker was condemned in the latter part of the last century in France, and under peculiar circumstances, to a hundred years in the galley, and strange to relate, this man recently made his appearance in his own native province at the advanced age of 120 years, he being 20 years of age when the sentence which condemned him to such a dreadful punishment was passed. It is difficult to conceive what the feeling must have been with which he returned, as soon as emancipated from the shackles which had enthralled him for a century, to breathe once more the cherished air of the scene of his infancy. Bourg, in the department of Ain, was his native home, but time had so changed the aspect of the whole that he recognized it only by the Church of Bron, which was the only thing which had undergone no alteration. He had triumphed over laws, bondage, man, time, everything. Not a relation had he left, not a single being could he hail in acquaintance, yet he was not without experiencing the homage and the respect the French pay old age. For himself he had forgotten everything connected with his early youth; even all recollection of the crime for which he had suffered was lost, or, if at all remembered, it was a dreary vision confounded with a thousand other dreary visions of days long gone by. His family and connections for several generations all dead, himself a living proof of the clemency of Heaven and the severity of man, regretting perhaps, the very irons which had been familiar to him, and half wishing himself again among the wretched and suffering beings with whom his fate had been so long associated—well might he be called the patriarch of burglars.

An Expert Chinese Juggler.

Dr. Fournie, of Paris, lately examined a Chinese juggler, named Ling Look, who used to thrust a sabre, almost three feet long, down his throat, and swallow a hen's egg, but which he afterwards spit out unbroken. It has hitherto been generally believed that the sabres used by the Chinese jugglers for this purpose were not solid, but could be contracted like telescopes, so that they would remain in the juggler's mouth; but Dr. Fournie examined the Chinaman's breast, and felt the point of the sabre some thirty inches below his mouth. When Ling Look pretended to swallow the egg, it seemed to the Doctor that he did not do so. He caused the juggler to repeat the experiment, and discovered now that Ling Look rolled it under his tongue, where, in consequence of the long practise, quite a cavity had been formed.

Strangling the Indians—Anecdote of Grant.

The Herald of Peace illustrates a point as follows: The number of whites, soldiers and settlers, killed by the Indians was nearly three hundred. The amount of property destroyed and carried away by them was immense; and the process of extermination was so successful, that with all their expense and loss, just six Indians were "exterminated," and that was all. The reply of Gen. Grant to the Superintendent of the Rock Island Railroad is so intensely characteristic, and withal so much to the point, that we cannot refrain from giving it. The Superintendent asked Grant what he was going to do with the Indians. Yankee like, Grant replied, "What would you do?" "I? why, I would strangle them," he said. "They don't strangle well," Grant rejoined; and that is just where the present difficulty seems to lie with our Government.

The improvements are a fine two-story brick house, with ten large rooms and bath. A large frame bank barn, with No. 1 stabling, and all other outbuildings in complete order. One of the best of orchards, of all kinds of fruit. The soil is rich new bottom. This property adjoins the village of Buena Vista, and has the advantage of churches, schools, mills, stores, &c., and will be sold at the low price of $15,000. The improvements alone are worth at least all that is asked for the property, to say nothing about the land, which is worth for garden purposes at least $10,000. For full particulars call at my office, or WILLIAM A. BELL, Esq., on the premises.

ALSO, A FARM OF 40 ACRES, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the line of the Connellsville Railroad, about 18 miles from the city. Also, a large frame bank barn, smoke house, wash house, coal house, bake-oven and other outbuildings, and a never-failing well of water. Two large orchards, containing from six to seven hundred fruit trees, nearly all in good bearing condition. This farm abounds in small fruits, viz: Currants, raspberries, gooseberries, and a fine large strawberry patch, which, in connexion with the richness of the soil and nearness to the city, makes it very desirable for gardening purposes. Very convenient to schools, churches, stores and blacksmith shop.

ALSO, A FARM OF 158 ACRES, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., 31 miles from the city of Pittsburgh, on the Connellsville Railroad, at Suter's Station. The improvements are a commodious house, a good frame barn, with stabling for ten horses; a corn crib and wagon shed; good orchard of fruit trees; fencing very good. 120 acres cleared, the residue in heavy timber land. This farm is valuable—first, for its excellent soil; secondly, its timber; and thirdly, it contains more limestone than any other farm in Pennsylvania, all accessible. It is well watered, and underlaid with coal and limestone, and is convenient to churches, schools, stores, mills and blacksmith shops. A real good bargain is offered in this excellent farm.

ALSO, A beautifully situated tract of 60 ACRES of valuable land, under good fencing, situated in McCandless township, Allegheny county, Pa., on a township road, 7 measured miles from the Market House, Allegheny City. This tract is well adapted for a garden or dairy farm, being convenient and of easy access to either city, and near enough to the line of the Mahoning Railroad to make it very desirable for country seats, for persons doing business in the city.

ALSO, The best farm in Young township, Indiana county, Pa., 4 miles from Western Penna. R. R. at Livermore Station, containing 300 ACRES—225 acres cleared and under No. 1 fencing, as well as fine farming condition; the balance in good white oak timber. The improvements are 2 two-story frame houses, nearly new, of eight rooms each and finished basements and attics; a large bank barn 50 by 80 feet, a two-story spring house and other necessary outbuildings, all in good order; 5 acres of orchard of choice varieties of fruits; 4 feet vein of coal (now open,) underlying the whole tract, and limestone in abundance, with plenty of springs of never-failing water. Taken all together—houses, fencing, soil, nice lying surface, public highway, churches, schools, mills, &c.,—I know of no more inviting and desirable tract of land in Western Pennsylvania.

ALSO, FARM AND MILLS. A small tract of 60 ACRES of very valuable land in Derry township, Westmoreland county, Pa., well fenced and in a high state of cultivation, with new frame dwelling, and other outbuildings; a new grist and saw mill complete, with two sets of burrs, two bolting cloths, and all the needed fixtures, in good order, and a young orchard of choice fruits; lane is all underlaid with a six foot vein of coal, now opened and worked, at the back of the mill, and limestone in abundance. False Pretence.—E. J. Hiller made information yesterday before Alderman Herron, against Thomas J. Meanor, for false pretence. The accused was arrested and committed for trial in default of $300 bail.

In our report of the demonstration of Thursday night we failed to notice the delegation from New Texas, under command of Capt. Metzger, who brought his gallant men fifteen miles to be with us on the occasion. Such patriotism is worthy the highest honor.

Y. M. C. A. Monthly Meeting.—The regular monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held in their Rooms this (Saturday) evening, at 7½ o'clock, at which time seven Directors will be selected. As this is the last meeting prior to the Anniversary, all members are earnestly requested to attend.

Break Down.—One of the hind wheels of a two-horse wagon, which was heavily laden with corn husks tied up in bales, gave way yesterday afternoon in front of the office of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad office, on Penn street. Travel on the Citizens' Passenger Railway was retarded a short time on account of the obstruction.

The ladies will find every department complete and well stocked. Particular attention has been paid this season to the shawl and cloak departments, and no where else will ladies find so admirable a selection.

No where else in the city can you be better pleased, for no where else is the stock larger or finer. A full line of cigar tubes and meerschaum pipes, of the best quality, at most reasonable prices. Provided For.—A woman and child applied at the office of Mayor Drum yesterday afternoon for assistance. They stated that they had arrived here from West Virginia, upon the strength of a letter from one William Randolph, a relative, who wrote that he resided in Pittsburgh, but they had thus far been unable to find his whereabouts. Mayor Drum has provided them with lodgings, until the whereabouts of Randolph can be ascertained.

Noonday Prayer Meeting.—The noonday prayer meetings under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, will be held at the usual place to-day, No. 51 Fifth Avenue, up stairs. To-day has been set apart especially for the benefit of the Sunday school cause, and the exercises will be directed to that end. This noble object which appeals to the sympathies of all christians, should and doubtless will be sufficient to induce a large attendance.

Memorial Sermon.—To-morrow afternoon, at three o'clock, in the First Methodist Church, Fifth avenue, (next above GAZETTE office,) Rev. Alex. Clark pastor, will deliver a discourse commemorative of the life and character of the late Thomas H. Stockton, D.D., of Philadelphia, and formerly Chaplain to Congress. Mr. Clark was at one time the associate pastor with Dr. Stockton in an independent church in Philadelphia, and has much personal knowledge of the deceased.

The Lane Murder Case.—The motion for a new trial in the case of Lewis Lane having been argued, and overruled, and the sentence of death pronounced upon the prisoner, by Judge Stowe, an account of which we published some weeks since, W. T. Haines, Esq., the prisoner's counsel, procured a special allocatur for a writ of error. The papers were completed yesterday and the matter will probably be brought before the Supreme Court to-day, or if not, early next week.

A Dolly Spree.—Samuel Mercer was as dry as usual yesterday, and satisfied his thirst by frequent potations of "Rye," causing him to behave in a very unbecoming manner. Samuel wended his way to Middle alley, Allegheny City, where he resides, but his conduct being anything but exceptionable, two "blue jackets," lit upon him, and for a repetition of his usual daily spree he was mulcted this morning in the sum of three dollars and costs, which he paid, and went on his way rejoicing.

Disorderly.—Lee Hamilton, Joseph Bryan and James Winters, three young men hailing from Sewickley, were arrested last evening, at seven o'clock, for disorderly conduct at the Railroad Passenger Station in Allegheny City. While waiting for the train, Hamilton and Bryan engaged in a scuffle, which terminated in a regular fight. Winters was endeavoring to part them, when one of Mayor Drum's policemen arrested the whole party and took them before His Honor, who fined them severally five dollars, after which they paid their fine and departed.

Malicious Trespass.—Isaac Snowden, a colored man, made information before Alderman McMasters yesterday, charging Louis and Eliza Straden with malicious trespass. He alleges that he rented a lot from defendants last spring, and planted it with cabbages. A day or two ago the defendants wanted possession of the lot, so they wantonly pulled up all his cabbages and threw them into the road. When Snowden remonstrated with them, they told him, as he alleges, that if he ever came back there again they would chop his head off. Warrants were issued.

NO PROSECUTOR.

The next cases called up were the Commonwealth vs. Mrs. Hatchery and Ann Valentine, indicted for assault and battery. S. Herskowits prosecutor. It appears that the daughter of one of the defendants has for some time been living with the prosecutor, and the defendants went to bring her home, and in the endeavors to get the daughter away got into a fight with the prosecutor. The prosecutor failing to appear, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty and directed that the prosecutor pay the costs.

The District Attorney stated that the prosecutor had failed to appear, and the case had been postponed twice on that account. He was still absent, but the defendant was entitled to a verdict. Torchlight Procession and Mass Meeting in Elizabeth Township—A General Illumination.

The Republican voters of Elizabeth and adjoining townships turned out in force on Thursday night, and made a magnificent display.

A torch-light procession took place in the early part of the evening, in which the following Tanner Clubs participated: McKeesport, Captain McIntosh; Pine Run, Captain Denney O'Neill; Mifflin Township, Captain Crawford; Elizabeth Township, Captain Joel Pancoast, Monongahela Borough; Captain Hazzard.

Nearly all the houses in the town were illuminated, and the display was very fine.

After the procession a mass meeting was held in the public square. It was organized by the election of the following officers:

President—Hon. J. K. Moorhead.

Vice Presidents—Isaac Large, Chill Hazzard, Benjamin Coursin, Samuel Scott, Dr. John E. Shaffer, Samuel Walker, Jr., Thos. Fergus, William E. Harrison, John Risher, William M'Roberts, Dr. John B. M'Grew.

Secretaries—Wm. McRoberts, Ed. Milligan, Dr. J. B. McGrew, Samual Roberts.

Stirring and effective speeches were made by Hon. J. K. Moorhead, C. W. Robb, Esq., Daniel A. McClurg, and John M. Kirkpatrick, Esq.

The crowd did not in the least diminish in consequence of the inclemency of the weather, and shouted "go on, go on," whenever there was any indication that the meeting would be brought to a close.

The meeting adjourned at half-past eleven o'clock, with cheers for the ticket and the speakers.

Is He a Murderer?

Officer Gumbert, of the Mayor's police, recently received a handbill and photograph from St. Louis, the handbill offering five hundred dollars reward for the apprehension of a murderer who had fled from that State, and giving a description of the fugitive. The photograph presented his features. The name given was Michael Desmon, and he was charged with murdering William Henderson at Edwardsville, Madison county, Illinois, on the 25th of August, 1868. On Thursday night two men named Pender and Morrow were disorderly on the streets, and were arrested and locked up. Yesterday morning at the hearing a man giving his name as John R. Hanlon, who had been with Morrow, volunteered as a witness in his behalf. His appearance struck officer Gumbert as being familiar, and on comparing his face with the photograph mentioned, the resemblance was found to be very complete. The man's appearance also answered to the description given in the handbill. He was questioned, and stated that he had come from St. Louis, and had been in this vicinity for about ten days, looking for employment. He was locked up, and since his imprisonment has told several different stories. The prisoner is rather young looking, and has light hair and beard. His nose appears to have been broken, a peculiarity not noted in the description. He will be kept until inquiry can be made.

Internal Revenue Decision.

The following correspondence, relative to the stamp duty on mortgages, settles a question which has long been in dispute:

RECORDER'S OFFICE,
PITTSBURGH, October 19, 1868.

Hon. E. A. Rollins, Washington, D. C.

SIR: Where an administrator wishes to assign a mortgage not due, to the guardian of decedent's heirs, in order to settle his trust finally—is it necessary to stamp the assignment? no consideration, of course, passing from the guardian to the administrator. Very respectfully, &c.,

HENRY SNIVELY,
Recorder, Allegheny County, Pa.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE,
WASHINGTON, October 20, 1868.

SIR: I reply to your letter of the 19th instant, that the assignment of a mortgage requires, in every case, the same stamp as a new mortgage, for the sum still secured. The tax does not depend as in the case of a conveyance upon a valuable consideration. Very respectfully,

JOHN E. RISLEY,
Deputy Commissioner.

HENRY SNIVELY, ESQ., County Recorder, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Maliciousness.

There are some people so completely possessed with the spirit of maliciousness that they can never be satisfied unless employed in carrying out some of their satanic designs. An individual of this class on last Sunday, desecrated the day and gave vent to his evil nature by cutting the bark off a beautiful shade tree in front of the residence of officer Charles Shaffer, of the Allegheny Police, on East street, Third ward. The tree is irretrievably ruined, the cutting being done in such a manner as to ensure its rapid and complete decay. It was one of the finest poplars in the city and highly prized by Mr. Shaffer, who offers a reward of twenty-five dollars for the discovery of the malicious perpetrator. The individual who is capable of performing such an act of meanness and sneakishness, should clothed with a varigated coat of tar and feathers and treated to a pleasant journey on a rail beyond the city limits.

Collision.

A slight smash-up occurred at the Union Depot yesterday morning. Several passenger coaches were standing against the "bumper" at the end of the track, waiting to be attached to the locomotive. The engine, with three or four express cars attached, came backing down the track to be hitched on. The locomotive was moving rapidly, and as the track there has a considerable down grade, it was found impossible to check the speed. The engine was reversed, but without avail, and the passenger coaches and express cars came into violent collision. A baggage and an express car were considerably wrecked, and the locomotive somewhat damaged, while the platforms of several of the cars were smashed. The "bumper" against which the cars rested was effectually demolished. Fortunately no person was injured.

Thomas M. Marshall.

"For the glorious record made by the Republicans of the entire oil region, and in many parts of the four counties composing this Congressional District, the thanks of the country are due largely to the gentleman whose name heads this paragraph. Three weeks before the election he left his professional pursuits in Pittsburgh and engaged in the work of political revival in "oildom," and his efforts were blessed with signal success. Possessed of rare oratorical gifts, Tom Marshall is a host of himself, and a power wherever he is known. He is the beau ideal of a man with the "Young America" of the Republican party in this vicinity, and has the confidence and respect of the State, as evinced by his selection as one of the Presidential Electors at Large on the ticket with Grant and Colfax. We hope to hear him in Meadville before the November election.—Crawford Journal.

The Butler Press, a fearless champion of Republican principles, and one that contributed its full share in making the recent victory in Pennsylvania complete, admits a well written communication urging strongly the election of Mr. Marshall to the Senatorship. In introducing the article, the editor says:

"Though the dark hours of defeat, as well as the bright time of victory, Thomas M. Marshall has been ever steadfast and true, never flinching or faltering in his eloquent advocacy of the cause of Truth and Liberty. The reputation of Mr. Marshall as a fearless champion of our cause is not local but national. He needs no encomium from us."

The correspondent, who is introduced as "an eminent Republican statesman and not a resident of Pittsburgh," says:

"As an able debator and most tried and steadfast Republican, he is not surpassed by any man in the State. Western Pennsylvania now demands that Buckalew's place be filled not only by an able but by a Western man, and no one could be selected for that high station that would give more general satisfaction. As the West by its majorities has carried the State, and Allegheny county, now as heretofore, proved herself the 'Banner County of the Nation,' it is but a fitting tribute to both that they should have one of the Representatives in the Senate of the United States, and we with great pleasure present Thomas M. Marshall, Esq., for that position. Let the West and North-west rally in his behalf and he will be nominated and elected."

New Firm—New Goods.

At No. 179 Liberty street Messrs. Florence Kramer, late of Kramer & Rahm, bankers, and P. Reymer Bohn, late with Reymer & Brothers, have opened a large and well stocked, wholesale, retail and manufacturing confectionery, which is worthy of receiving a full and generous share of public patronage. Mr. Kramer, the senior member of the firm, is too well known to our readers to need any special commendation at our hands. He has long been closely identified with the business people and has contributed as much as any to the growth and importance of the city. He carries with him into his new trade the confidence and esteem of the entire community and we wish him and his courteous partner a large measure of prosperity. Mr. Jerry Carmack, for many years clerk on the steamboats of the Monongahela river, and a gentleman widely knowu and respected, and Mr. Edward Schuman, formerly with Reymer & Brothers, will be found in the employ of this new house, where they will be pleased to see their friends. Messrs. Kramer & Bohn will keep all the goods in the line of confectionery, opening with a very fine stock of foreign and American sweetmeats. They likewise deal in canned fruits and vegetables, sauces, jellies, catsups, table condiments, foreign fruits, nuts, etc., etc. Manufacturing of candies will be made a specialty, as the firm have unusual facilities for the successful prosecution of that line of their business. We earnestly commend this new house to the attention of wholesale and retail purchasers, knowing the superiority of the fresh stock opened, and the favorable inducements offered the trade in the way of reasonable prices.

Meeting at Hite's Station.

A large and spirited meeting of the Republicans of East Deer township was held on Thursday evening, at Hite's Station.

The meeting was organized by calling Lewis Peterson, Esq., to the chair.

Vice Presidents—Capt. Humes, George Morrison and Robert Bailey, Esqs.

Secretaries—Messrs. Waters and Edmundson.

The meeting was ably addressed by S. P. Fulton and J. P. Powers, Esqs.

The meeting then adjourned with three cheers for Grant and Colfax.

After the meeting adjourned the several Grant Clubs formed in line, fully equipped with caps, capes and torches, and marched through the village, which was brilliantly illuminated, and halted in front of Dr. Dale's residence. The Dr. was called out and responded in an able and eloquent address, after which the crowd dispersed.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Last night was the occasion of Mr. John E. Owens' benefit at the Opera House, and we have not seen so large and fashionable an audience during the present season. Every seat in the parquette and a great number in the dress circle had been secured, and long before the curtain rose every seat in the building, from the orchestra to the gallery, was occupied and every available foot of standing room was appropriated. "Poor Gentleman" and "Toodles" constituted the entertainment, with Mr. Owens in the principal characters. The entire cast in both pieces was excellent, and the audience gave frequent evidences of their appreciation of the entertainment. Mr. Owens will appear at the matinee this afternoon, in three of his favorite pieces, viz: "Self," "Paul Pry" and "Happist Days of My Life."

Alleged Larceny.

George W. Brooks made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging Jack Sanders, John Martin and Jeremiah Connor with larceny. He alleges that Sanders, who resides on High street, induced him to go home with him, and that when they arrived at the house they found Martin and Connor there. He spent the night at the house, and the next morning discovered that he was minus seven dollars and fifty cents, which was all the money he had with him when he entered the house. The accused were arrested and held for a hearing.

Turn Out, Alleghenians!

Grand rally of soldiers and sailors at New Brighton, Beaver county, on Tuesday evening, October 27th. A cordial invitation is hereby extended to all uniformed companies of Allegheny county to participate. You will be well and hospitably entertained. We came to Allegheny county on the evening of September 22d six hundred strong. Will not the old soldiers of Allegheny county turn out and help us of Beaver county to elect General Grant President of the United States?

By order of COMMITTEE.

The way of the wicked is hard, and the road to ruin is broad, but these proverbs have nothing to do with the great bargains in trunks, valises and carpet bags offered at the first class premium trunk factory of Joseph Liebler, No. 104 Wood street. The stock is very full and inviting.

Stained Glass.

Among the remarkable improvements in American manufactures nothing is more noteworthy than the great stride which has been made within the last few years in the business of staining and enameling glass. Up to a recent date the consumer has depended, in a large measure, upon the English manufacturer. As a matter of course, the carriage alone, leaving out the dealer's and manufacturer's profits, imposed a large tax on the consumer; sufficient, indeed, to justify the establishment of the business in our own country. Glass staining, however, to be conducted properly, should be combined with glass making. The glass stainer who depends upon the glass manufacturer for his material, is limited in his operations, and necessarily requires more time to complete his work. The manufacturer, on the other hand, has extraordinary facilities for staining and enameling unlimited quantities in a fraction of time required by the glass stainer. Page, Zellers & Duff, No. 8 Wood street, may be termed the pioneers of the new movement. They have demonstrated the fact that an article in every way equal to English stained glass can be made at rates favorable to the consumer. They are now prepared to fill orders for every style of plain white, chaste and elaborate designed stained and enameled glass, for public and private buildings, elegant transoms, side lights, transoms for business houses, with name of firm and number of street, &c. NEW YORK, July 1st, 1868.

DEAR SIR:—In your paper of last week you or one of your correspondents say that Dr. Drake is not the originator of the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS, and that they were manufactured and sold by one Pedro Martelle, an old Spaniard, in the Island of St. Thomas, over forty years ago, as every old sea captain can testify. Now, sir, I can certify to the above as being true, for I have followed the sea for over forty years, most of the time doing business with the West Indies. These same Bitters, differently put up and named, were brought to my notice on my first trip to the Island of St. Croix for a cargo of rum, and for years and years after, my ship's stores were never without them. I always supplied my family and many of my neighbors with them, and can truly say a better Bitters and Tonic is not made in all the world.

Yours, truly,
THSTF. CAPT. HENRY WENTZ.

Cold, and Their Prevention.

In this changeable climate of ours a cold is easily taken, and without due care another will be contracted on top of it—one Cold thus running into another, until the accompanying Cough becomes settled and confirmed, straining and racking the lungs, and ultimately stimulating the production of tubercles; yet, notwithstanding a majority of existing cases of clearly-defined pulmonary disease may thus be accounted for, thousands are now carelessely allowing themselves to drift through the preliminary symptoms, under the fatal delusion that they are troubled with "nothing but a Cold." How obvious is it, therefore, that a Cold should be carefully guarded against, and every exertion used to prevent the system from being attacked. We proffer the advice free that the Boots and Shoes sold by Messrs. H. B. Smithson & Co., Nos. 55 and 57 Fifth avenue, will do much toward keeping the system in the desired condition. They also offer an elegant stock of Blankets, Flannels and winter goods, that should not be overlooked.
